RUSSIANS ARE READY TO YIELD PORT ARTHUR

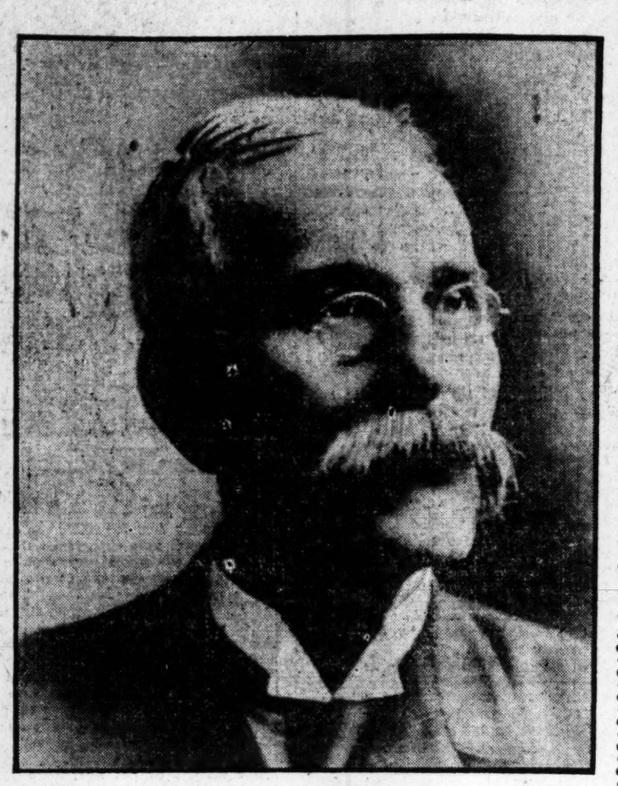

FOR STAKE OF MILLIONS PANAMA PLOTTERS WORK

Advices Received at Washington Indicate That Trouble Is Brewing on Isthmus.

MOVEMENT UNDER WAY TO OVERTHROW AMADOR

Conspirators Who Ahe Plotting Downfall of President Want to Get Clutches on Millions Paid for the Canal.

Washington, November 15.—Advices have reached here concerning the reports from Panama of a conspiracy there directed against the president. While the details are not available, it is understood here that this conspiracy was directed against President Amador and was conceived by persons who want to control the remainder of the $10,000,000 fund paid by the United States to Panama in consideration of the right of way across the isthmus. It is further learned that the movement was a failure, President Amador having been warned in advance, but it is feared the same elements will repeat the effort.

PRESIDENT MANUEL AMADOR.
Conspiracy Formed at Panama to Force Him Out of Office.

BUT STOESSEL STERNLY SAYS NO SURRENDER

General Is Wounded and In a Hospital, but He Still Commands the Garrison.

WITH DRAWN REVOLVERS OFFICERS DRIVE TROOPS TO MAN THE RAMPARTS

Many Soldiers Suspected of An Intention to Desert, Have Been Shot Dead as an Example to the Garrison—Japanese Believe Limit of Endurance Has Been Reached.

HEADQUARTERS of the Japanese Army Before Port Arthur, November 15—Via Fushan—It is said that a wound received by General Stoessel has necessitated his confinement in a hospital, that he refused to relinquish the command of the garrison and that he has issued orders to the troops to die at their posts rather than surender.

It is said that the spirits of the Russian troops has been dampened by continuous work, the lack of supplies and the hopelessness of their ability to make any successful defense of the fortress. It is said further that many of the Russian soldiers are ready to surrender, but that they are kept at their posts by officers who threaten them with revolvers and that several soldiers who were suspected of a desire to desert have been shot as a warning to others.

HEADQUARTERS of the Third Japanese Army Before Port Arthur, November 14.—via Fusan, November 15.—Delayed in transmission—Spies and Russians who have surrendered report that rations in the fortress have been reduced. The wounded found by the Japanese are emaciated.

Russian artillery shells are made partly of filled wood and do not explode. This shows that the Russians are short of material for making heavy ammunition. The capture of the eastern fortified ridge will mean the surrender of the fortress in a couple of weks unless the garrison there retires to the isolated forts. This seems improbable, however, and cold weather and the lack of food and ammunition render desperate resistance unlikely.

RUSSIAN TORPEDO BOAT FLEES FROM PORT ARTHUR.

Chefoo, November 16.—8:30 a. m.—The Russian torpedo boat destroyer Ratstoropony put into this harbor this morning. Firing was heard half an hour before she entered the harbor. A snow storm and a high wind were prevailing at the time and it is believed that the Russian vessel, under cover of the storm, attempted to escape from Port Arthur. The captain of the Chinese cruiser Haiyung was the first person to go on board the Ratstoropony. He held a brief conference with her commander, after which the Ratstoropony came up the stream and anchored in the same spot that the destroyer Reyshitenil did last August before she was cut out by the Japanese.

SHE LEAVES CATHOLIC CHURCH FOR THE FAITH OF HER FATHERS

Founder of Catholic University at Washington Turns Protestant.

Story of Career of Gwendolin Caldwell, Now Marquise de Merinville.

NEW YORK, November 15.—The Associated Press has received the following. Before giving it publicity its authority has been fully verified by cable from Rome:

"Rome, November 14, 1904.—Editor of the Associated Press: You have my full permission to print the inclosed, and give it as wide a publication as possible. Yours truly,

"MARQUISE DES MONSTEIRES."

The enclosure referred to by the marquis follows:

"Dear Editor: It may interest some of your readers to know that the Marquise des Monsteires Merinville, formerly Miss M. G. Caldwell, who it will be remembered founded the Roman Catholic University at Washington some years ago, has entirely repudiated her former creed. In an interview with me the other day she said:

"'Yes, it is true that I have left the Roman Catholic church. Since I have been living in Europe my eyes have been opened to what that church really is, and to its anything but sanctity. But the trouble goes much further back than this. Being naturally religious my imagination was early caught by the idea of doing something to lift the church from the lowly position which it occupied in America, so I thought of a university or higher school, where its clergy could be educated, and if possible, refined. Of course in this I was merely influenced by Bishop Spalding, of Peoria, who represented it to me as one of the greatest works of the day. When I was 21 I turned over to them one-third of my fortune for that purpose. But for years I have been trying to rid myself of the subtle, overwhelming influence of a church, which, pretends, not only to the privilege of being the "only true church," but of being alone able to open the gates of heaven to a sorrowful, sinful world. At last my honest protestant blood has asserted itself, and I now forever repudiate and cast off the yoke of Rome.'"

So saying the marquise politely dismissed me.

'It will be remembered that the Marquise des Mouseires Merinville and her sister, the Baroness Von Zedwitz, are the daughters of the late William S. Caldwell, and his wife was a Breckinridge, of Kentucky. Shortly before his death Mr. Caldwell became a convert to Roman Catholicism, and left his children to the care of Irish Roman Catholics in New York, whom his wife had met in church circles. The younger sister married some fifteen years ago, a German nobleman, a Lutheran, and has since then also left the Roman Catholic communion. The elder has been in very poor health for some years, from having to occupy a position before the world as a prominent Roman Catholic, which was not a real one, and into which her own generosity led her as a young and inexperienced girl. Now at last her own mind has asserted itself, and she returns to the creed of her ancestors."

Mary Gwendolin Caldwell is the daughter of William Shakespeare Caldwell, who after being a theatrical manager in England settled in Richmond, Va., and eventually made a fortune in building gas plants in St. Louis, Chicago, Mobile and other cities. He married Miss Breckinridge, a famous Kentucky belle. Miss Caldwell and her sister, Lina, spent the summers at Newport, where they had a magnificent house and usually passed part of the winter when they were not abroad, in New York. On the death of her father Miss Caldwell inherited $2,000,000 and in 1896 Miss Caldwell was married to the Marquis des Monsteires Merinville, a French nobleman, in St. Joseph church, Avenue Hiche, Paris, by Bishop Spalding, of Peoria, Ills., the guardian and administrator of the estate of Miss Caldwell, assisted by Father Cooke.

At the time of her marriage Miss Caldwell was a very handsome woman about 35 years old and a devout Roman Catholic. She had previously shown her devotion to the church by giving $300,000 to found the Divinity college of the Roman Catholic university in Washington. Some seven years previous to her marriage Miss Caldwell was engaged to Prince Murat, grandson of the king of Naples. The engagement was broken because the prince insisted that half of Miss Caldwell's fortune should be settled upon him.

Miss Lina Caldwell married Baron Von Zedwitz, who was killed on his yacht Isolde August 18, 1896, while taking part in the races of the Royal Albert regatta at South Sea, England, as a result of a collision with Emperor William's yacht, Meteor. The baron was struck on the head by a block or a piece of broken mast of his yacht and was unconscious when picked up, dying soon after. Baron Von Zedwitz was a brilliant young man who had held a number of diplomatic appointments, including the secretaryships of the German temporal missions at Washington, St. Petersburg, Tokio. In 1888 he was appointed minister of Morocco. While in the United States he became a convert to yachting and commissioned the Herreshoffs to build him a 20-footer, in which he met his death.

Little was known of the Marquis des Monsteleres Merinville at the time of his marriage to Miss Caldwell with the exception of the fact that he was chronicled as dating his title from 1754, the rank of count having been given to his ancestors in 1756.

The Divinity college of the Roman Catholic university in Washington is known as the Mary Gwendolyn Caldwell Hall of Divinity.

Catholics Are Surprised.

Washington, November 15.—Prominent members of the Catholic clergy in Washington tonight expressed their surprise at the announcement from Rome that the Marquise des Monsteires, formerly Miss M. G. Caldwell, and the founder of the Catholic university here, has renounced the Catholic faith.

In fact, they were loath to believe she had formed such a determination. At the university itself, the statement would not be accepted as true, but in order to satisfy himself on the subject Rector O'Connell tonight cabled Rome for information.

Bishop Spaulding, of Peoria, is in this city to attend a meeting of the trustees of the university. When asked tonight if he could assign any reason for the Marquese des Monsteires' action, he answered that he could not; that he knew her only as a good Catholic, and until the announcement was made today had given no thought otherwise. "It is all a mystery to me," he said.

One official of the Catholic church tonight attributed as a possible cause, taking the story to be correct, the notoriety which the university gained by the failure of Thomas E. Waggaman, its treasurer, by which the university suffered considerable loss.

BROWNLOW FIRED BY ROOSEVELT

Alleged Postal Official Was Guilty of "Lese Majeste."

Brownlow, Considering a Certain Demand a Reflection On His, Honor, Answered Somewhat Stiffly and President Promptly Discharged Him.

Washington, November 15.—John H. Brownlow, of Tennessee, a clerk in the postoffice department, who acted as disbursing officer of the department at the St. Louis exposition, was dismissed from the service today by order of the president.

Brownlow was charged with impertinence and insubordination, and as he declined to withdraw his offensive language his dismissal followed.

While Postmaster General Payne was yet alive he wrote Brownlow directing that he send to the department a statement of his receipts and disbursements. In response Brownlow forwarded the aggregate sums of his receipts and disbursements. The postmaster general then ordered him to submit to the department an itemized statement of moneys he had handled. This Brownlow declined to do, accompanying his refusal with statements to the postmaster general which were considered offensive. He evidently felt that the demand of Mr. Payne was a reflection upon his honor.

Postmaster General Payne presented the matter to the president, who gave orders that Brownlow should be dismissed from the service. Prior to Mr. Payne's death no action was taken in the case, and it became an inheritance of the present postmaster general. When Mr. Wynne took up the subject he asked the president to consent to allow Mr. Brownlow to continue in the service, provided he should withdraw his offensive statements to the postmaster general. Brownlow's accounts had been found to be correct, and Mr. Wynne told him no reflection had been made on his integrity. Despite this assurance, however, Brownlow in a letter to Postmaster General Wynne refused to withdraw the statement he previously had made. An order for his dismissal was signed today.

FELL FIVE STORIES, THEN WALKED AWAY

FALLING a distance of five stories and striking upon a terracotta boor, C. H. Lemay, a rivet worker, escaped what seemed certain death at the Candler building, corner of Peachtree and Pryor streets, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and he now lies at the Grady hospital none the worse for his terrible plunge except a fractured hip.

Lemay's fall was witnessed by a fellow workman, who says the man's body turned over several times before he reached the bottom. It was believed he would be picked up dead, but he got up himself and walked about and complained his leg was hurt. He was taken to the Grady hospital, where his injuries were examined. It was ascertained that his left hip was fractured, but no other injury could be found.

Lemay is a boiler maker by trade and is said not to have been used to working on high buildings. He only went to work on the Candler building on Monday. Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock he lost his balance while standing on a cross piece and he fell the distance of five floors. The floor upon which he landed is covered with terracotta. There was nothing in the way to break his fall and that he was not killed outright was almost a miracle.

Lemay lives on Hubbard street. He has not long been a resident of Atlanta.

OUTLAWS LOOT AS THEY FLEE

Another Bold Deed by Bandits Who Robbed Cody Bank.

Wearing Masks They Invade a Saloon and Gambling House and Secure a Large Sum of Money—Posses in Hot Pursuit.

Cheyenne, Wyo., November 15.—The two bandits who made a descent on the First national bank of Cody two weeks ago today and killed Cashier Middaugh, committed another bold robbery early today, when they held up the inmates of Edwards' saloon and gambling house at Thermopolis, Big Horn county, and secured a large sum of money, watches and jewelry.

The outlaws wore masks, but were recognized as George Merritt and his partner, who killed Middaugh. They were mounted on fast horses and escaped to the Bad Lands along the Big Horn river, south of Thermopolis. Posses were quickly organized and started in pursuit, but the robbers reached the mountains ahead of them.

The desperadoes doubled back on their trail from the Hole-in-the-Wall country after the Cody robbery and took refuge in the Owl mountains, south of Thermopolis, where the officers had prepared to capture them. Feeling runs high in Big Horn county, and if the desperadoes are ever captured they will be punished without waiting for the courts to convict them. The rewards have been increased and additional posses will go in search of the daring desperadoes.

Italians Hate Austrians.

Rome, November 15.—Anti-Austrian demonstrations having their origin in the recent riotous demonstrations at Innsbruck over the institution of an Italian faculty in the university there are of frequent occurrence in Italy. At Bari, about 70 miles northwest of Brindisi, a mob burned the Austrian flag, crying, "Down with Austria."

VERMONT HOLDS TO THE GALLOWS

Bill Abolishing Capital Punishment Is Signally Defeated.

Much Interest in Legislature's Action Because Body Must Now Act on the Death Sentence of a Woman.

Montpelier, Vt., November 15.—By a vote of 153 to 83 the house of representatives, after a spirited debate today, refused to pass a third reading and so defeated the bill to abolish capital punishment in the state.

There is much interest in today's action of the house because of the bill now in committee to commute the death sentence of Mrs. Mary A. Rogers to ten years' imprisonment. Mrs. Rogers was convicted of the murder of her husband, Marcus H. Rogers, and sentenced to be hanged on February 5, 1904.

In spite of the sentiment expressed in the house today by today's vote it is said that the bill in behalf of Mrs. Rogers will be reported soon and a determined fight made to save her life.

DEATH CLOSE TO THOMPSON

Former Governor of South Carolina Not Expected To Live.

New York, November 15.—Hugh Smith Thompson, former governor of South Carolina and assistant secretary of the treasury in President Cleveland's first administration, is seriously ill at his home in this city and late tonight it was said that he is not expected to live.

Mr. Thompson is suffering from asthma. At his residence tonight the Associated Press was informed that his case is hopeless. Mr. Thompson has lived in New York since 1892, when he took the position of comptroller of the New York Life Insurance Company. He was governor of South Carolina from 1882 to 1886 and assistant secretary of the treasury from 1886 to 1889.

PLATT TREATS HIS FRIENDS TO BUCKWHEAT BREAKFAST

OWEGO, N. Y., November 15.—Owego never had seen so many men who are prominent in public life as were assembled here today in response to the invitation of Senator Platt to his buckwheat breakfast. Senator Depew, congressmen, state senators and assemblymen, some accompanied by their wives, were present at the Ahwaga house, Senator Platt's home when in Owego.

Neither Governor Odell nor Governor-elect Higgins attended, the latter being ill.

Senator Depew was one of the after-breakfast speakers. In the course of a felicitous address he said that Senator Platt's twenty years of leadership will stand in political history as unequalled in its absence of factional strife within the party, and the glorious victories of the party.

Referring to the recent election Senator Depew asked, "What elected Roosevelt?"

"The answer is as clear as Revelation," he went on. "Roosevelt elected Roosevelt. No personality in American public life ever stood out so distinct in individual characteristics, in emphasis of traits peculiarly his own, and in outspoken confidence with the whole people like President Roosevelt. The qualities which his enemies caricatured or anathematized were the ones which endeared him to his countrymen. He holds his commission freer from pledges or obligations, except to the people who elected him than any of his predecessors."

"Now, my friends, what of the future? Upon the ruins of the disintegration of the democratic party will arise an organization built up by resourceful and able agitators, whose appeal will be to discontent. It must be our task that there shall be a minimum of disconent and a maximum of satisfaction."

Senator Platt received a great ovation as he rose to speak, and it was several minutes before he could proceed. He said they were here to eat a platter of buckwheat cakes in honor of President Roosevelt. He said there was great virtue in buckwheat. President Roosevelt carried every state where there was a free public expression of opinion, and had even broken the solid south.

TRUST IS FORMED BY TURKEY FARMERS

ALBANY, N. Y., November 15.—Warren county farmers who raised many turkeys for the eastern markets, are reported to have formed a trust and unanimously decided that the Thanksgiving fowl is worth more money this year than heretofore. The present price is 23 cents, and a rise to 30 cents a pound is expected by next week.

CASHIER WAS KILLED BY WEDDING OYSTERS.

WELLINGTON, Kans., November 15.—E. B. Wimer, cashier of the Wellington national, is dead of typhoid fever as the result of eating oysters at his sister's wedding several weeks ago. Thirty other guests were made ill and several may not recover. Both the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Tapley May, are dangerously ill.

ICE COLD MEAT IN FLAMES.

Cold Storage Plant Is Destroyed at Jersey City.

New York, November 15.—A considerable quantity of dressed meats in cold storage was incinerated, much valuable property was destroyed and many blocks along the water front were threatened by a fire which raged for several hours in the United Stock yards in Jersey City early today. The fire started in the cold storage room of the plant and is thought to have been caused by an explosion of ammonia.

W. A. Sherman, manager of the stock yards, said that about 1,000 dressed hogs and sheep were consumed by the flames and that about 200 live hogs and about 200 live sheep perished. Mr. Sherman said that the loss might go to $15,000 and possibly a little over that. It is believed that no human lives were lost.

SHAKESPEARE BIBLE BROUGHT ONLY $1,050.

LONDON, November 15.—Little interest was displayed in the sale of the Shakespeare Bible which has just taken place. Bidding on the souvenir opened at $100 and rose slowly to $1,050, at which price it was sold. The book is to go to America immediately. If the signatures therein are those of the "Bard of Avon," the value of the book is worth ten times the amount paid. Experts, however, raised a question as to the genuineness of the poet's signature.

BURGLAR CAUGHT BY PAPER SLIP

He Was Discovered in Whitehall Street Residence.

In Making His Escape He Let Fall Slip of Paper, by Which He was Tracked and Caught—May Have Done Murder.

A burglar in his haste to escape last night from a residence where he was detected let fall a slip of paper and less than an hour later he was tracked by the paper and arrested at his house with the stolen goods in his possession. The capture of the burglar by police officers was a piece of work which would have merited the praise even of Sherlock Holmes.

About 11 o'clock last night the family of A. O. Vaughan, who resides at 524 Whitehall street, returned home after having spent the evening at the house of a friend. Mr. Vaughan, who is a railroad man, is absent from the city and his wife and children were alone when they reentered their home. They quickly detected that some one had entered the house in their absence. A window was found open and a trunk and a dresser had been rifled. They hastened away to give the alarm and as they were leaving the house they saw the burglar, a negro man, run out of the yard.

Officers Hardaway, Cooper, Blackstone and Willey went to work on the case. They discovered under the window, through which the burglar had entered the house, a slip of paper such as is furnished drivers by coal dealers when coal is delivered. The paper bore the name of W. M. Poole, coal and wood dealer. The officers went to Mr. Poole's residence and ascertained from him that the negro to whom the paper had been given was Roy Broadnax, who lived in an alley in the rear of No. 7 engine house, West End.

Caught at His Home.

When the officers went to Broadnax's home he was put. Two of them went to look for him and two remained at the house. About 12 o'clock the negro returned home, when he was arrested. A pistol, a gold ring and $6 which he had stole nfrom the Vaughan home were found in his possession. He was sent to the police barracks, where he stated that another negro committed the burglary while he watched the house, but this story is not believed.

A large butcher knife was found in the negro burglar's possession and as he had the pistol which he had stolen he would probably have killed Mrs. Vaughan and her children had they come near him when they caught him in their house.

Broadnax is a negro of medium height and has a most forbidding countenance. He is the very picture of a professional criminal.

RUSSIAN SHIPS GAVE NO WARNING

But Flashed Searchlights and Opened Fire on Trawlers

Official Inquiry Into the North Sea Horor Begun by Great Britain. Russian Consul is Present and is Questioning Witnesses.

Hull, England, November 15.—The inquiry which Great Britain conducts on her own behalf into the North sea incident opened today.

Vice Admiral Bridge and Butler Aspinall, an admiralty court lawyer, whose report will form the basis of the British case before the international commission at Paris, conducted the inquest. Dr. Herbert Woodhouse represented the Russian embassy.

The correspondent of the Associated Press learned that the board of trade solicitors who have been preparing the case have found no evidence to suggest the presence of torpedo boats among the fishing fleet.

The evidence of the witnesses in substance was that the trawlers took the Russians for British warships at maneuvers. When the firing began the trawlers ran. The skipper of the trawler Keith in reply to questions declared that there were no Japanese trawlers and no Japanese present and that no Japanese agents made any suggestion to him whatever. It would have been impossible for the trawlers, he added, to screen a torpedo boat.

A surgeon of the North sea hospital ship Alpha made the rather important statement that all the Alpha's lights were extinguished soon after the fire commenced.

Both Admiral Bridge and Mr. Aspinall, who are conducting the inquiry on the most impartial lines, indicated by questions that the trawler which separated from the fishing fleet might possibly have been taken for a torpedo boat by the Russians.

A suggestion by the Russian consul that the shelling was due to the trawlers failing to stop when blank shots were fired and the fact that the lights were extinguished on at least one trawler is considered here to in some degree explain, though not to excuse, the attack by the Russians.

Dr. Woodhouse holds a merely watching brief. Neither he nor the Russian consul here are in possession of any evidence tending to prove that Japanese topedo boats were in the neighborhood of Dogger bank or that Japanese exercised any influence upon the fishing fleet.

CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL MEET

Fifty-Sixth Convention of the Christian Church in Session.

Savannah, Ga., November 15.—(Special.) The fifty-sixth annual convention of the Christian church in Georgia was called to order tonight at the Bolton Street church, where the sessions of the convention are to be held. The convention will be in session until Friday night. Tomorrow, Thursday and Friday there will be three meetings a day, morning, afternoon and night. It is expected that a great deal of work of interest and value to the church will be done.

There are nearly two hundred delegates in the city, representing all the cities and towns of size in the state. They are entertained at the homes of members of the local church, a committee on entertainment having met the visitors at the depots and escorted them to these homes.

At 7:30 o'clock tonight the opening session was called to order. The opening service was conducted by Rev. G. F. Cuthrell, of Griffin. This praise service lasted for twenty minutes, and upon its conclusion the delegates were welcomed to Savannah by the pastor of the local church, Rev. A. R. Miller. The response to this welcome was made by Rev. W. B. McDonald, of Statham.

A forty-minute address on foreign missions was made by Rev. A. McLean, of Cincinnati, general secretary of the foreign missions society of the church. His address did much toward increasing the lively interest of the delegates in the cause of foreign missions, and the aid the convention will render it will doubtless be material.

The meeting closed with the introduction of the members of the entertainment committee of the local church to the delegates. All the visitors were urged to call upon the members of the committee for anything that they might want during their stay in the city, and were told that it was the desire of the local church that nothing should be overlooked in the extension of Savannah's hospitality. A number of impromptu talks followed, and the first session was brought to a close.

Southern Types of Beauty

POISE AND GRACE.

SHE confers a favor on the world by giving to it a beautiful face and figure. Not only does the Southern girl, as a rule, possess beauty of face, but she has a certain poise and grace, a flexibility of the figure that makes her a queen among women. Though the Southern woman may sometimes be plain, nevertheless she charms because she is a womanly woman. She has her mind and body under perfect control. She is natural and unaffected and has that charm of carriage which so distinguishes a woman—a sense of quiet repose. "A woman is as old as she looks." Woman who do not give thought to their age, thinking nothing about middle or old age, keep young forever. People who brush away care, generally by reason of their unselfishness and good nature, working hard for other people's pleasure and well being, possess the heart and liveliness of a girl and are the beloved companions of all young folks. Life is short, and it is our duty to make it for ourselves and other people as bright as possible. Young women should take mild physical exercise to overcome natural defects of form and improve the figure. A little exercise each day will impart vigor to the general bodily activity, the breathing powers, the circulation of the blood. the digestive functions and the action of the liver, all assisted by judicious exercise. Outdoor air, long, deep breathing with the mouth closed, taking into the lungs all the air possible slowly and without strain, and letting the breath out slowly and measuredly, helps to develop the bust and figure. Singing also is a help. Light dumb-bell exercise remedies contracted, narrow chest, develops the shoulders and rounds the neck and gives grace and flexibility to the figure and improves the carriage. Girls and women certainly help to make the world brighter if they endeavor to look their best and keep the lightheartedness of youth through life. Very often they are made old and wrinkled by the pain and burden which comes in maidenhood, in motherhood or in the change of life. At such times the delicate female system is in great need of a tonic, something made without alcohol, that will affect the delicate feminine system. Such a prescription was found by Dr. R. V. Pierce, from the use of which weak women are made strong and sick women are made well.

Of course there are women in the cities and country who possess neither beauty of face or form because in these instances they suffer from nervousness, the result of disorders of the womanly organism. At regular intervals they suffer so much that their strength leaves them; they are so prostrated that it takes days for them to recover their strength. Of course, such periodic distress has its bad effect on the nervous system, says Dr. Pierce in his "Common Sense Medical Adviser." The withered and drawn faces, the dark circles and crow's feet over the eyes, the straight figure without those curves which lend so much to feminine beauty, are the unmistakable signs of womanly disorders. The young girl should study how to make herself more attractive; how to overcome those bodily ills that pull her down. A sick woman cannot be a beautiful woman, nor can she be anything but a poor-spirited woman.

There is every reason why she should write to a specialist, particularly to one who has made the diseases of women a specialty for a third of a century, like Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. All his correspondence is held sacredly confidential, and he gives his advice free and without charge.

Many are confined to a continual indoor life because of disease of the womanly organs. To these is offered $500 reward if they cannot be cured of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus or Falling of Womb. All Dr. Pierce asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure.

No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee as Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. No other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its makers in publishing such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of a third of a century of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

"I have found Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription of inestimable value," writes Mrs. Ellen Alta Bryan (Treasurer Memphis Century Club), of 193 Vance Street, Memphis, Tenn., "as a tonic for overwrought nerves, or when one is troubled with general lassitude and an irritable condition, hardly knowing what the trouble is. I was advised to use it by a member of our Club and the effect on me was truly wonderful. Within two weeks I was like a new woman. I could eat and sleep as I have not been able to for months, my nerves became strong and the mental equilibrium was restored as well as the physical. Your medicine has my highest endorsement."

Every woman, young or old, should know herself. To arrive at this knowledge, secure a good doctor book, by addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" can be procured by sending twenty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or thirty-one stamps for a cloth-bound copy.

MINORITY NEEDS TRAINING, DECLARES CHAMP CLARK

CHAMP CLARK in an entertaining lecture on "Picturesque Public Men" was the attraction last night at the Grand that filled the big auditorium with admirers of the "man from Missouri."

Always entertaining, Champ Clark was exceptionally so last night. All of the character pictures painted were from personal and intimate acquaintanceships with the public men described. The portraits by Mr. Clark are moving pictures. With a scarcely perceptible motion of his hands or some gesture he paints the character he describes, not after the manner of the impersonator, but rather after the style of one who brings happy memories to mind and is simply entertaining himself as well as others with reminiscences of ten years in congress.

Blessed with quaint wit and homely humor, his fun is of the kind that begets genuine pleasure for all with nothing to hurt even the one who may be the object of his wit. In most interesting manner he brought out the sarcasm of Thomas B. Reed that won for the man from Maine so many enemies among his own constituents and in contrast the humor of "Private" John Allen, of Mississippi, who won so many friends even among his opponents.

"What the democrats need is training," he said. "That's the trouble with the democrats. They aren't trained. They don't make the showing that t properly drilled minority can make. They are like militia fighting regular soldiers.

"But the time is coming when they will show their strength and they will stand together. And it is time that the democrats of the south should take their rightful place at the head of the democratic table and not follow the lead of New York or any other state for purely political reasons."

This reference and also that of "Joe" Bailey, of Texas, for president received much applause which was scattered through the entire evening. While the reminiscences were entertaining, there was an undercurrent that made better Americans of all who heard the "man from Missouri."

LACK OF COMMON LANGUAGE CAUSED RENTS IN AIR SHIP

ST. LOUIS, Mo., November 15.—Lack of common language caused a misunderstanding of orders given by the French navigators of the Francois airship today, and resulted in an accident which splintered the prow of the flying machine, and was indirectly responsible for two large rents in the top of the immense balloon.

Owing to the repairs necessitated by the accident which terminated yesterday's flight, it was nearly dark before the airship was taken out of the aerodrome today.

When released it rose easily to a height of about 35 feet, and headed toward the north fence of the aeronautic concourse, rising slowly as it progressed.

When the airship was almost over the fence, M. Francois shouted in French, to cut loose. The English-speaking attaches of the aerodrome misunderstood him and hauled in on the guide ropes. The pull on the rope exerted a lowering force and, although M. Francois emptied several bags of ballast, he could not counteract the effect of the pull, and the airship crashed into the fence, breaking the prow of the machine and throwing the navigators to their knees. M. Francois quickly recovered his feet, and motioned for the airship to be pulled to the ground.

The breaking of the forward supports had parted the forward guy ropes, and it was found that the balloon had raised too high in front to enter the aerodrome doors. The top of the balloon scraped against the roof of the aerodrome, and two holes were torn in the silk covering.

BOLL WEEVIL MOVES NORTH

At the Rate of Fifty Miles a Season the Cotton Pest Travels.

Shreveport, La., November 15.—The executive committee of the national cotton boll weevil convention, which assembles in this city December 12 to 15 inclusively, today issued an address to the people of the south.

The committee states that the flight of the weevil during the summer of 1904 has been fully 50 miles north and east into territory heretofore uninfested and indicates a habit that is beyond the power of individual states to control. The committee says:

"These efforts have been of untold value to the territory involved, but nevertheless emphasize in no uncertain tones the danger threatening the cotton crop of this country unless immediately, definite and cooperative action is taken by every cotton growing state and every cotton interest to utilize the results of past investigations to further perfect remedial endeavor.

"A division of opinion and interest in a campaign against the weevil will bring disaster and defeat."

CHILD'S PLAYFUL TRICK NEARLY PROVES FATAL

TIFTON, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—A playful trick of a child came very near resulting seriously for his mother at Breekfield, 7 miles east of Tifton.

Mrs. J. A. Cox, wife of Elder J. A. Cox, after finishing in the stove room from breakfast, left to look after household duties, and two or three of her smaller children were playing in the stove room. A box of canned sausage was found by them and the smallest child placed the box inside the stove and closed the door. The stove was still hot. Mrs. Cox shortly returned to fix a lunch for the children to carry to school, and asked what had become of the sausage. The little fellow told his mother he had placed it in the stove. She opened the door and finding the can to be hot, wrapped her apron around it and placed the box hurriedly on top the stove, when the same exploded, the fragments and hot grease popping up in her face and eyes, resulting in very painful wounds, and disfiguring her face very much. She is still suffering from the burns, but will soon be out again.

CORN MILLERS HELD MEETING.

Discussion Was Devoted to New Traffic Rules.

Knoxville, Tenn., November 15.—The Southern Corn Millers' Association, composed of millers south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi, held its first annual convention today here. President J. Allen Smith, of Knoxville, presided. The entire day's discussion was devoted to new traffic rules which go into effect January 1 next on several railroads. The millers decided to enter protest against the changes which they consider detrimental to their interests. Delegates from Kentucky, Georgia, North Carolina and Tennessee were present today.

Don't take drugs to cure germ troubles, for drugs never kill germs. Liquozone alone can do that, and the first bottle is free.

Germ diseases are caused by germ attacks, or by poisons which germs create. And they cannot be cured until the germs are killed. Medicine is not for these troubles, because medicine cannot kill inside germs. Every physician knows this.

Liquozone alone can end the cause of a germ trouble. It does all that is necessary—all that can be done. Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone. And it cures diseases which medicine never cures. Don't cling to the old ways blindly. The germ cause of disease is a newly-discovered fact, and it calls for new treatment. Let us show you, at our expense, what Liquozone can do.

Kills Inside Germs.

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact that gives Liquozone its worth to humanity. And that worth is so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

BRITAIN HAILS KING AND QUEEN

Great Pageant in Honor of the Rulers of Portugal.

Half a Hundred Warships Assembled At Portsmouth, Thundered a Salute—Prince of Wales Welcomed Visitors For King Edward.

Portsmouth, England, November 15.—The king and queen of Portugal reached Portsmouth this morning from Cherbourg and subsequently proceeded to Windsor, to return the visit which King Edward paid to them at Lisbon last year. The visitors, who crossed the channel in King Edward's yacht, escorted by half a dozen British warships, had an imposing welcome at naval headquarters, where thirty or forty warships, elaborately dressed with bunting, assembled in their honor. No such naval pageant has been witnessed here since the coronation review.

As the royal yacht approached the ship yards and sides were manned, the whole fleet joined with the land forts in saluting. The prince of Wales, surrounded by a crowd of naval and military officers, awaited the royal yacht at the dock yard jetty and immediately after she was moored he boarded her and in behalf of King Edward welcomed King Charles and Queen Amelia to England.

The royal party subsequently disembarked, King Charles inspected the guard of honor and the king and queen and the prince of Wales entered the royal train and started for Windsor amidst the firing of another salute from ships and land batteries.

Kingsley was indicted for the murder of Captain A. C. Paul, also an inmate of the home. His counsel moved that the verdict be set aside.

ANDRE FORCED TO LEAVE WAR MINISTRY OF FRANCE

Gen. Andre, French War Minister.

Paris, November 15.—General Andre today resigned the portfolio of minister of war, and Henry Berteaux, a member of the chamber of deputies and a successful broker on the Bourse, was nominated as his successor. This change in the ministry is the culmination of fierce assaults upon the administration of the war office, in the course of which the chamber of deputies was the scene of frequent wild disorders, including the recent personal assault upon General Andre.

These events stirred the public to a high pitch of excitement, and particularly army and parliamentary circles, where a succession of duels evinced the bitterness. General Andre reached the decision to resign only this morning, and immediately dispatched a letter to Premier Combes. The text of this letter, which was given out tonight, asserts that the attacks against the war office were merely a device of enemies of the government to undermine the republic.

"While proud of the work to which I have devoted my best energies," General Andre wrote, "I have too much love for my country and the republic to accept for one moment the hypothesis that I am the cause of disunion within the republican majority. It is by the united action of this majority that the ministries of Waldeck-Rousseau and Combes have saved the republic from the perils confronting it, and it is, thanks to this continued union, that the republican party will achieve the great task before it."

The letter concludes with affectionate adieus to General Andre's colleagues and his thanks for their cooperation.

Premier Combes laid the letter before the cabinet meeting this afternoon and an agreement was speedily reached to invite M. Berteaux to succeed General Andre. The premier presented M. Berteaux to President Loubet at 6 o'clock this evening and the announcement of the change was thereupon officially made.

The news of the resignation of General Andre created a sensation owing to the intensity of the recent controversy. The opposition to the ministry hailed the resignation as a great victory, which will speedily lead to the fall of the entire ministry.

Reports were circulated tonight that MM. Pelleton, Rouvier and Maruejouls are also likely to resign the portfolio of the ministries of marine, finance and public works, respectively; but there is no confirmation of these reports. Conservative opinion is that the cabinet will be strengthened by the removal of the chief source of the present discord and weakness.

The choice of M. Berteaux to be minister of war evokes no enthusiasm, as he is not a soldier and his election breaks the recent tradition regarding the choice of a military head of the war administration.

SEISMIC SHOCKS IN MEXICO.

Volcano of Colima Is Active and There Is Much Fear.

Mexico City, November 15.—Earthquake shocks are reported from several points in the state of Jalisco. At the town of Autlan, the walls of several buildings were cracked.

At Manzanillo the schock lasted ten seconds. No damage, however, was done.

The volcano of Colima is inactive and seismic disturbances are feared, as it has been noticed that such disturbances are much more frequent and severe during the volcano's inactivity.

DEAD WITH PISTOL IN HAND.

Police Not Certain, However, Greene Killed Himself.

St. Louis, November 15.—The police are investigating the death of Daniel R. Greene, a druggist of Gainesville, Tex., who was found dead today in his room at a boarding house by Forest B. Ramsey and Merwin Barron, also druggists of Ardmore, Ind. T., whom Greene met on his way to St. Louis yesterday. Greene was found lying across the corner of his bed with a large revolver clasped in his hand and a hole in his temple. The man was fully dressed and had on his hat and overcoat. The room occupied by Greene adjoined that of his companions, but they say no shot was heard after they retired early last evening after visiting the world's fair.

REBELS BEATEN BY GOVERNMENT

Revolutionary Movement in Brazil Has Been Crushed.

Students At the Military School Revolted But Were Soon Subdued, Owing to the Energetic Measures Taken By the Government.

Rio de Janeiro, November 15.—The revolutionary movement has been crushed and order is completely restored. Senator Lauro Sorode and Deputy Dargosa Lima, leaders of the movement, have fled. Other leaders have been arrested. Many persons have been killed or wounded.

The students of the military school revolted yesterday evening and deposed the commander, General Costalent. This was followed by a secret meeting, held at the Military Club, at which Generals Olympio, Silveira and Travassos were present.

General Travassos was appointed to succeed General Costalent. The whole school at about 8 p. m., under command of General Travassos, marched upon the town, but were met by a detachment of soldiers and military police. A serious encounter followed, during which General Travassos was wounded and his horse shot under him. His adjutant was killed. The cadets then fell back and occupied the hills in the neighborhood of the school building. At 2 a. m., the soldiers and police, supported by the war volunteers, attacked the cadets' position, and at 5 a. m., the cadets being without a leader, surrendered. They were all placed in prison. An attempt was made by Major Gems Castellos to incite a revolt at the Relengo school of artillery, but this was unsuccessful. The government is receiving much praise for the energetic measures taken to suppress the revolt.

PUTTING IT STRONG.

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable?

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with Dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves, or going to opposite extreme, or else deluging the already overburdened stomach with "bitters," "after- dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight, temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now, how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained?

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy, but its success and popularity leaves no doubt as to its merit.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach.

The sufferer from Dyspepsia, according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal, and the result will be that the food will be digested, no matter how bad your Dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak, yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished, and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made because the much-abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

Citizens and Railroad Men Held Two Sessions Yesterday.

FINE FEELING PREVAILS ON BOTH SIDES OF ISSUE

While Nothing Was Given Out By Those Who Attended, It Is Believed By Many That An Agreement Will Be Effected.

At the close of the two lengthy sessions of the first day's conference representatives of both sides in the endeavor to reach an amicable adjustment of the differences between the Atlanta Freight Bureau and the railroads which operate in Atlanta announced that nothing for publication could be given out as nothing had been done.

The first session began yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and continued until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The second session began at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and continued until 7 o'clock last evening, making seven hours and thirty minutes of work for the representatives of the two sides yesterday. The sessions are being held in room 125 of the Piedmont hotel.

At 7 o'clock last night it was decided to adjourn until 10 o'clock this morning.

As a result of the session of yesterday the representatives of both the city and the railroads thoroughly understand each other. It was announced last night that speeches of considerable length had been made on both sides, but that very little actual work on the freight rate figures was done. It is the intention to take up the figures as soon as the session of this morning begins and these rates will be worked upon and discussed during the day.

Prominent Men Present.

The following representatives of the railroads attended both sessions yesterday and will be present this morning:

E. F. Cost, second vice president of the Seaboard Air Line; J. M. Culp, third vice president of the Southern railway; T. C. Powell, freight traffic manager of the Southern; A. R. Lawton, first vice president of the Central; W. A. Winburn, second vice president of the Central; H. F. Smith, traffic manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad; A. R. Smith, general freight agent of the Atlanta and West Point; T. K. Scott, general manager of the Georgia.

For the city the following committeemen were present:

J. G. Oglesby, chairman; Sam D. Jones, vice president; W. E. Newill, secretary; Robert F. Maddox, J. K. Orr, Louis Gholstin and E. M. Hudson.

The greatest amount of interest centered in the meeting at the Piedmont yesterday. Because of the fact that only the actual representatives of the railroads and only members of the citizens' committee were allowed in room 125, considerable anxiety was manifested in the lobby of the Piedmont.

Several members of council, members of the Atlanta freight bureau, merchants of Atlanta and railroad men stood during the entire day either in the lobby or in the bar of the hotel and conversed with each other about the freight rates.

The feeling among these gentlemen was very optimistic. They were plainly of the opinion that the representatives of the railroads and of the city would reach an agreement and that the agreement would be of a nature to be satisfactory to both railroads and the Atlanta freight bureau.

There was much disappointment at both the dinner and supper hour when it was ascertained that those who had been in the conference declined to say what had transpired, further than to speak in generalities.

Chairman Oglesby Talks.

After the close of the afternoon session Chairman Oglesby, of the committee of citizens, was seen.

He was asked if there was anything for publication.

"No, not a thing," he responded. "Of course, we did not spend the day up there for nothing, but we have not yet reached a point that will allow us to say anything for publication."

This was indefinite enough to be interesting.

"Shall the newspaper accounts be optimistic or pessimistic, to be correct?" he was asked.

"Well," responded Chairman Oglesby, "I hardly know what to respond. "If you write an optimistic account of our meetings, there will be much disappointment, if we fail to do anything. I would not advise an optimistic account in the morning."

This was practically the extent of the interview with Mr. Oglesby. This is also about as much as any one succeeded in obtaining from the gentlemen who were in the room. Both Mr. Oglesby and the railroad men were very courteous to every one with whom they conversed about the meeting, but it was evidently the understanding that the results of the first day's conference, if there were any, were not to be given out either to the newspaper men or to other interested persons.

Good Feeling Prevailed.

At the same time, it was quite evident that the best of feeling prevailed between the representatives of the city and the railroads. Chairman Oglesby did state, in addition to what he has been quoted as saying, that the conferences of yesterday were harmonious and pleasant to both sides.

It is the general feeling among both the prominent railroad men and merchants that an agreement will be reached. It is believed, however, that it will be several days before the conference will be ready to announce it.

No reference of importance was made during the conference of yesterday, it is said, of the failure of the Louisville and Nashville, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern to enter the conference upon the ground that they do not operate in Atlanta. It is believed by the railroad men that these roads will agree to any adjustment that is made by the roads that are in the conference, and it is under that idea that the railroads are proceeding.

Railroad Men at Hotels.

All through the day the lobby and foyers of the Piedmont were filled with visiting railroad men, and while they were not inclined to talk about the freight situation when it came to the consideration of details, they were quite ready to discuss the matter in the way of generalities. All of the railroad men seem to be in the very best of humor and their expressions regarding Atlanta and the rate war that has been raised were far more friendly than at any previous meeting.

The question seems to have reached a point where both sides want to see an immediate settlement, and while none of the officials would commit themselves in any way, they gave the impression that the railroads hoped to have an agreement reached at this meeting that would dispose of the entire matter.

This fact was generally commented upon by interested Atlantans, who were also present in the lobby, and they seemed to think that this hopeful view of the railroad officials was both important and significant. With both the railroads and the Atlanta citizens ready and eager to come to some agreement that will dispose of the freight question, a settlement seems nearer an actual fact than ever before.

It will be remembered that previous to this time the railroads have been disposed to fight the question on the merits of the case in the courts with the idea of bringing it to the United States supreme court if necessary. But since the last gathering of the railroad men in Atlanta, so much pressure has been brought to bear and public opinion has reached such a stage that now the railroads as well as the Atlanta citizens are anxious for an immediate settlement.

One phase on which both sides agree is that if the matter is left to the courts, what with postponements and appeals, years will be required in the settlement and both sides will suffer during the delay in consequence.

On the other hand, if an agreement is reached during the present conference, the entire matter can be settled with an adjustment of rates that will go into immediate effect. While neither side would state that they were willing to make any great compromise, the fact was revealed that with both the railroads and the citizens' committee looking to an immediate settlement, both would make considerable concessions rather than leave the entire question open to be dragged throught the future for a long time.

WAS NOT WORTHY OF HIS SPOUSE

So Declared Henry Ross, Who Committed Suicide.

Griffin, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—J. Henry Ross, a very young planter, who lived about 2 miles south of Griffin, shot himself through the head this morning with a pistol and died without speaking. His wife and children were present with him in their bed room at the time. The tragedy occurred at 6 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Ross came to Griffin yesterday. He sick all night and threatened to kill himself, telling his wife that he was not worthy of her and that she was far too good for him. As Mr. Ross had never been in any way a dissipated man and as his wife was devoted to him, she endeavored to persuade him not to kill himself.

This morning he got up and seemed more cheerful. After making the fires he came into the room whistling, and his wife, thinking that all was well with him, went to the kitchen to prepare breakfast. Mr. Ross lay across the bed where his children were and suddenly a pistol shot was heard.

When Mrs. Ross reached her husband he was bleeding from a wound through the head and his pistol was clinched tightly in his left hand. He died without ever speaking. He is the third member of his immediate family to try suicide.

Only a few years ago he married Miss Harris, of Pike county, and he had four children. He was only 28 years old. The family is well connected and has many relatives in this section of the state.

POLICE BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Officers Complimented for Catching Viaduct Burglar.

The board of police commissioners met last night in regular monthly session. Only five of the eight members were present—Chairman Day, Captain English, Dr. Fox, Mr. Johnson and Councilman Hilburn.

Commissioner Johnson introduced the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That this board compliment Officers Bayne and Hollingsworth for their good work in capturing Ed Alexander, the notorious viaduct burglar."

The much-looked-for report about the gambling cases made by two officers under Chairman Day without the cooperation of the chief of police, was not forthcoming, as Secretary Nunnally is absent from the city. This report was requested because it was claimed that the docket would not show as many cases for gambling made as was claimed in the chairman's first report.

The resignations of Officers Harry D. White and Thomas C. Goodson were accepted. That of Officer White was accepted with regrets on motion of Captain English, who said he regarded Officer White as one of the best men ever connected with the police department.

The report of Chief Ball for the month of October showed that the department had sentenced criminals to the chaingang for a total period of ninety-one years, the best showing of the kind that has ever been made by the department.

No action was taken in regard to the building of a juvenile prison as the plans had been changed, and a subsequent report will be necessary before the work can begin. The contract has been let and work will begin in a few days.

PRINCE OF JAPAN AT WHITE HOUSE

Fushimi Pays His Respects to the President.

Prince's Address Was in Japanese, Which Was Interpreted—The Reply of the President to the Prince.

Washington, November 15.—Prince Sadamura Fushimi, a near relative of the emperor of Japan, who has arrived in Washington as a guest of the nation, today called at the white house to pay his respects to the president, and to convey to him the sincere good wishes and friendship of the mikado and his hope for the president's continued good health and happiness.

Prince Fushimi was attired in the uniform of a lieutenant general of the Japanese army. The prince and his suite were ushered into the blue room, where, in a few minutes, President Roosevelt, accompanied by Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis and Secretary William Loeb, Jr., greeted them. The greeting between the president and Prince Fushimi was cordial.

Prince Fushimi addressed the president in Japanese, his remarks being interpreted by one of his suite. He said in part:

"His imperial majesty was pleased to confide to me the agreeable duty of conveying to you, Mr. President, the ossurance of his sincere good wishes and friendship and fervent hope for your continued good health and happiness.

"His majesty also charged me to confirm to you his earnest desire that the historic relations of amity and good correspondence which have always, since the days of Commodore Perry, united the great republic of the west, with the empire of the legendary east, and which have contributed, in no small measure, to the progress and prosperity of Japan, may grow still closer and stronger with passing years."

The president's response follow in part:

Ever since the empire of Japan—at the invitation of this country—entered upon the career of modern and international progress which has led to such brilliant results, the relations of the two countries have been those of unbroken friendship. I pray that those relations may continue forever, growing always more friendly and more extended, and I trust that this visit of your imperial highness may result in that increase of mutual good will between this republic and the empire of Japan which will naturally come from more intimate acquaintance and wider knowledge of each other."

The president and Prince Fushimi then chatted animatedly for ten minutes. Their conversation was conducted through an interpreter and related principally to Japanese history and literature, with incidentaly reference to the pending Russo-Japanese war, in which Prince Fushimi has played a conspicuous part.

The president returned the prince's call in the afternoon and in the evening entertained the prince and the diplomatic corps at dinner at the white house.

HOT DISCUSSION OF SPEER'S ACTS

"Releasing Three Is Same as Releasing Three Hundred."

Alderman Declares Federal Judge's Acts Worse On Negro Population Than the Famous Dinner of Booker Washington at White House Last Year.

Constitution Bureau, 467 Second Street, Macon, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the city council of Macon tonight there was a hot discussion of the recent release of the negro Samuel by Judge Emory Speer through a writ of habeas corpus.

Alderman Jones declared that the release from the chaingang of Jemison, Pennington and Samuel, after sentence had been imposed by the recorder's court of Macon, had "a worse effect on Macon's population than Booker Washington's eating with the president."

One alderman declared the habeas corpus process resorted to by Judge Speer to be an "awful example; if he can turn three loose, he can turn 150 or 200 loose."

It was stated that all three of the negroes were released on the same ground which might cover the release from the chaingang of every other convict sent up from the recorder's court.

The effect of Judge Speer's action on the negro population was discussed. City Attorney Wimberly will take up the matter when he goes to Washington the latter part of this month.

Case Will Be Fought.

Macon, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—When the appeal case against the mayor and council of Macon concerning the proposed annexation of certain parts of Vineville and Huguenin Heights comes off November 28, City Attorney Wimberly will go to Washington to present the city's side of the case. On an appeal from the judgment of the supreme court of Georgia this case went to the supreme court of the United States.

On the refusal of Judge Felton to grant the application of certain citizens for an injunction to restrain the city from annexing the proposed territory, the case was taken to the supreme court of this sate, and on the confirmation of Judge Felton's action it was carried to the supreme court of the United States.

LABOR STANDS FOR FREE PRESS

New Orleans Union Censured by National Federation.

Crescent City Body Boycotted Paper Because of the Opionions of the Editor—Several Disputes Before San Francisco Convention.

San Francisco, November 15.—The convention of the American Federation of Labor was called to order promptly by President Gompers today.

First Vice President James Duncan read the report of the executive council. The portion of this report which created the greatest interest was that relating to trade autonomy. A long list of disputes relative to trade jurisdiction were cited and the merits of the contentions gone into. The committee decreed that unless the Chicago Federation of Labor and the central bodies of Indianapolis and Washington, D. C., complied with the demands and constitution of the American Federation of Labor before the expiration of the present session that the charters of these organizations would be permanently revoked.

One of the Contentions.

One of the principal contentions referred to by the committee was that existing between the Brewery Workers and the International Association of Firemen and Engineers, which the council recommended be submitted to a special committee to be composed of two members from each union involved and a like number of representatives from the American Federation of Labor. It was pointed out that most of the trouble between these organizations arose from the fear entertained by the Brewery Workers that by complying with the demands of the engineers and firemen the life of the Brewery Workers' Union was threatened. The ultimatum of the council was that unless the latter organization realized the provisions of the constitution of the American Federation of Labor and allowed engineers and firemen employed in breweries to come under the jurisdiction of their respective organizations before the end of the present session, no attention would be paid to the brewery's petitions to place firms on the unfair list, that the firms so listed by the brewers would not be recognized as such by the American Federation of Labor, and that the brewers' label would not be considered by the federation.

Censure for New Orleans.

Another central labor body which came in for censure of the executive council was that at New Orleans. The latter organization boycotted a union labor paper in the city because of an expression of opinion on the part of the editor. This was styled by the council as a violation of a free press and a fundamental principal of unionism, and the New Orleans body was given thirty days in which to remove the boycott or the alternative of having its charter revoked.

Unions everywhere were cautioned to be more conservative in their actions relative to placing firms on the unfair list. It was recommended that such cases be referred to the federation, who would thoroughly investigate the boycott.

Situation in Colorado.

The situation in Colorado was referred to as "shocking," and a determination was expressed to aid the Western Federation of Miners, both morally and financially, in the efforts to have the matter brought before the highest court in the land for final adjudication. The report concluded by urging all union men to work persistently to the end that an anti-injunction bill, eight-hour law and measures to regulate convict labor and enforce Chinese exclusion might be passed by congress.

The matter of seating William Schardt, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, came up when the committee on credentials recommended that he have no voice in the proceedings. An amendment to the report was carried over the head of the committee, however, which postponed consideration of the case until tomorrow morning. A fight between the representatives of the boiler makers and structural workers was likewise postponed.

At the afternoon session Michael Davitt who was in the hall, was recognized and called to the platform. He made a short speech expressing his sympathy with organized labor and was loudly applauded. The convention then adjourned until tomorrow.

SUTTON'S CASE IS POSTPONED

Trial of Alleged Kidnaper Will Occur on Next Monday.

Bainbridge, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—Upon the convening of court this morning for the calling of the Sutton kidnaping and assault trial, counsel for the defendant prayed for additional time in which to get material witnesses from a distance, stating to the court that in the event of this extension they would not apply for bail for Sutton.

Judge Spence set the case for hearing on resuming the criminal docket next Monday and notified both sides that they must be ready at that time.

The defense also gave notice that they would file a motion for a change of venue, as they believed it impossible for Sutton to obtain a fair trial before the Bainbridge bar. The question will not be considered until Monday, but it is believed that the trial will proceed and the defendant will have as fair a trial as is possible anywhere.

The consensus of opinion is that before next Monday night the case will have been disposed of in conformity to the law and with justice to all concerned.

A Negro Is Held for Failure to Save Her Life.

On the charge of assault with intent to murder because he saved himself and did not save his wife from a burning building, Mac Williamson, a negro carpenter, is held in the Tower. It is said to be the first case of the kind on record in Fulton county.

Monday morning at 4 o'clock a frame house at 107 Currier street caught fire and was destroyed. In the house were Mac Williamson, his wife, Fannie, and four little children. When the flames were first discovered the family barely had time to escape with their lives. The man ran out, taking his four children with him. The woman was later aroused by neighbors who went to the scene, and when they did so the burning roof was falling in over the woman's head. She was so badly burned that she had to be carried to the hospital, where she died Tuesday morning at 3 o'clock.

That the woman did not awake was remarkable, for the heat from the fire was intense. When she was awakened the bed on which she lay was in a blaze.

There was considerable talk among the neighbors about Mac Williamson not awakening his wife when he did the children and he was severely criticised for his neglect to do so.

After the woman died her brother, Levi Jennings, went before Justice Bloodworth and swore out a warrant against Williamson, charging him with assault with intent to murder. Williamson was taken before the justice and committed to the Tower, where he will be held until he can be given a preliminary trial.

Williamson has stated that he did not mean to neglect his wife, but forgot to awake her in the excitement of the moment and that he had to save his four children while the building was in a blaze.

HE WANTS ALL RAILROADS COMBINED IN ONE SYSTEM

Striking Suggestion by President Smith of the Railroad Commissioners.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP DOES NOT PLEASE SMITH

But He Thinks Country Would Be Better Off if Every Mile of Track Were In One Vast Combine—Also Touches on Question of Rates.

Birmingham, Ala., November 15.—The sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Railroad Commissioners began here today with a large attendance present, including state railroad commissioners and deputy commissioners from almost every state in the union. Scores of commissioners came in last night and this morning from the south and east, and shortly before the convention met today a special train bearing about fifty commissioners from the western states arrived. When the convention met President John V. Smith, of Montgomery, Ala., delivered his annual address.

Address of President.

President Smith took strong grounds against the federal government ownership of railroads, saying that a political party with the patronage afforded by the railroads and the appointment of over a million employees could not only perpetuate itself in power, but in a few years could build up a monarchy, and our now boasted free institutions would become the laughing stock of the nations. Government supervision reasonably and justly administered and not government ownership, he said, was to his mind, the solution of the problem of railroad combinations.

"Let the railroads combine," the speaker continued, "and combine until every mile is under one vast system, and I have sufficient confidence in our government to believe that under proper supervision these combinations could be made a blessing instead of a curse to our nation.

"It might also be said, with some degree of truth that if our state and national leaders in politics would cease their wild and unmeaning rantings against railroads, combines and trusts, and their appeals to the passions and prejudices of the great masses of the people, arousing bitter partisan feelings in the minds of the unthinking public for the upbuilding of their own or their parties political fortunes and turn their attention to a serious and conscientious study of this question along broad and statesmanlike lines, a remedy would soon be found that would conserve the interests of the public and the railroads as well."

Fighting Rates.

Speaking of what he termed the clamor for reduction of the cost of transportation, the speaker said he felt that a note of warning should be sounded and a spirit of conservatism prevail in the future exercise of government control of railroad corporations.

"The railroads," he said, "owe the public the very best service at the cheapest cost which their financial conditions can sustain, but let us not in our eager desire for better service and cheaper transportation lay our hands so heavily upon them as to retard progress or to result in depiving the owners of their property without due process of law."

This afternoon the commissioners toured the Birmingham district to view the iron, steel and coal industries. On Thursday afternoon they will leave on an elegant special train for a trip through Mexico.

BEACH IS SWEPT BY TIDAL WAVE.

Fishing Lodge and Occupants Borne Into Ocean.

At Least Two Persons Drowned and May Be Others—Communication Not Yet Entirely Restored—No News of Missing Vessels.

Norfolk, Va., November 15.—Communication over the United States weather bureau's seacoast telegraph wires was restored today as far south as Manteo, on Roanoke island, North Carolina. At Kinnakett, N. C., a fishing lodge on the beach was washed into Pamlico sound by a tidal wave and two men were drowned. The names of the men were not given in a brief telegram which came over a badly working wire. Kinnakett is situated five and three-quarter miles north of Cape Hatteras on a small strip of land separating the Atlantic ocean and Pamlico sound.

No news had been received from the schooner Myra Spear, which stranded on the Hatteras coast last week and which it is supposed must have gone to pieces in the storm of Sunday.

The four-masted schooned Miles M. Murray, Capt. Pickett, bound from Bangor, Me., to Brunswick, Ga., came into Hampton Roads this morning with nearly all of her sails blown away and with many of her spars missing.

The vessel had a rough time in the gale which swept the coast Sunday, and the wind played havoc with everything above the decks.

JOSEPH DRISCOLL IS DEAD

Popular Citizen Succumbs to Attack of Typhoid Fever Yesterday Morning.

Joseph P. Driscoll, aged 40 years, after a two weeks' illness with typhoid fever, died at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at his residence, 59 East Georgia avenue.

Dr. Driscoll was a prominent business man of this city. At the time of his death he was chief clerk of the Southern Weighing and Inspection Bureau. Prior to accepting this position, about three years ago, he was connected with the Atlanta fire department.

As a business man and a citizen, he made many friends and admirers, who will learn with genuine regret of his untimely death. He had a character which, by its manliness and thoughtfulness always for others, commended itself to all with whom he came in contact.

The surviving members of the family are two sisters and one brother, Timothy J. Driscoll, now connected with the fire department. Funeral services will be conducted from the Church of the Immaculate Conception Thursday morning. More definite funeral arrangements will be announced later. The deceased was a member of the local Knights of Columbus.

The sessions will last all the week, closing next Monday night. Drs. J. A. Davis, of Atlanta district; Charles E. Bradwell, of the Monticello district; W. G. Alexander, of the south Atlanta district; Rev. John Harmon, of the Newnan district, and R. T. Matthews, of the Griffin district, will have the pastors of their districts make reports in regard to the work done by them.

The educational interests of the negro will be thoroughly discussed Friday night, when President J. S. Flipper, Commissioner R. D. Stinson and Dean W. G. Alexander, of the theological department, will make addresses. It is expected that a number of changes will be made in the pastorates.

Bishop Turner is looking forward to a prosperous and successful session of the conference. Thursday night Rev. Zaba, presiding elder of the south African conference, will address the conference on the subject of missions.

DEATH OF JOSEPH LOGAN.

He Was the Manager of the Carrie Steele Orphanage for Negroes.

Joseph Logan, a negro 47 years old, who has for a number of years been acting as manager for the Carrie Steele orphanage for negro children, died yesterday at the home from pneumonia after an illness of nine days.

The orphanage was founded by his wife in 1890 and financed by him. It is situated near the Soldiers' home and has always been considered one of Atlanta's most notable charities.

Joseph Logan enjoyed a good reputation both among the white people and the negroes of the city who appreciated the work that he had been doing for many years. The home now has twenty-nine inmates.

The funeral services will be conducted from the Wheat Street Baptist church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Good Suits AND Overcoats

At right prices, is the sum and substance of our Clothing talk. To say nothing of the price, the garments are right. The cloths that go into them have worth and merit in every thread. They are made up right, not thrown together in the cheapest kind of manner, but made by experienced and competent tailors; and they fit, fit as well and in many instances better than those made to measure.

Suits $10.00 to $30.00

Overcoats $10.00 to $30.00

OLD MAN MEETS SUDDEN DEATH

Street Car Runs Over and Kills W. G. Thomason.

Athens, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—This morning W. G. Thomason, aged 83 years, was run over and killed by an electric car on the corner of Broad and Thomas streets.

He was nearly deaf and did not hear the car as it approached him. He stopped in the middle of the track, and before the motorman could stop the car it was upon him, killing him instantly.

Mr. Thomason was formerly of Elbert county, and will be buried there tomorrow.

BARBER-PARSON AS A DETECTIVE

Rev. Spearman, Who Shaves and Preaches, Catches Burglar.

Rev. J. W. Spearman, colored, shaves people during the week and looks after their souls on Sundays. He is a combination barber-preacher. A month ago somebody stole all his clothes and then he left off both preaching and shaving for a while and played another role, that of Sherlock Holmes. He tracked the thief to his lair and turned him over to the police.

In the recorder's court yesterday afternoon, the Rev. Spearman, barber and preacher, told how he caught the man who desecrated his wardrobe and his story was one of the most interesting and most uniquely expressed in the annals of police court lore in Atlanta.

Horace Smith, a large hump-shouldered negro, was the accused. The preacher-barber faced the prisoner and said:

"If this emporium of justice wants to hear the truth about Brother Smith, it will now proceed to listen to it as it falls from my lips. I wear good clothes. When I shave in the barber shop on week days I wear fine clothes to please my customers, and when I preach on the holy Sabbath I wear fine clothes to please the Lord. I had my trousers made in Chicago, and they cost $10 a pair. A month ago I went off to a protracted meeting and when I got back some low, designing rascal had broken open my house and carried off every blessed pair of my fine Chicago trousers. But I remembered that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and I tried to be cheerful; but all the time I was after that thief. Right here I must say that Brother Smith took a powerful lot of interest in my loss and tried to appear low spirited. He went around with me helping me to find the thief. He even told me he had seen a man wearing a pair of the stolen Chicago breeches. One day I found Brother Smith and if he didn't have on a pair of my pants I hope I may never strop another razor as long as I live. I asked him where he got the pants and he said a woman sold them to him. I asked him to show me the woman and he said he would, and then he slipped into a dark door, and, Judge Broyles, his disappearance was miraculous. I put the police on his trail and we tracked him to his den, where we treed him. We had him like the dogs get a rabbit in a hollow log. The police were at one door and I was at the other, and there wasn't no going backward or going forward for Brother Smith. We searched his house and we found every blessed pair of my stolen Chicago breeches, Judge Broyles. Here is Brother Smith to speak for himself, but I know after he has heard me he will be as dumfounded as the sheep before the shearer. I have got all my Chicago breeches back again, but one pair is so badly worn out that they can't be used for a decent scarecrow."

When asked what he had to say, "Brother Smith" hung his head, fumbled with his hat and muttered a few words about a woman in the case. He was bound over for burglary in a $500 bond.

THE PASSING THRONG.

"We are on our way home from Andersonville, where we have unveiled a state monument to the soldiers from Maine who died in that prison during war between the states," said S. M. Poor yesterday. "How many in the party? About fifty, something like that if we count the good women who are along. Yes, Maine lost a good many sons in that—I beg pardon. What I mean to say to you was that while exigencies of that trouble between the states was on, quite a number of boys from Maine fell into the hands of the confederacy and unfortunately were sent to Ande—Once more I must beg your pardon. Anyhow those boys from Maine who loved the flag more than you folks down here did then, but no more than you folks do now, found their way into Andersonville. Of course you know there were more who went in than came out. Well it is to those who didn't come out the state gave money to erect a monument and we have been down there to tear the rag off that monument—as the saying goes—to unveil it. Haven't been to Andersonville? Then I'd like to tell you that as far as it was possible the boys from each state were gathered as far as possible into a plat. That, however, doesn't prevail entirely. Anyhow the states north and west which lost sons in that prison are perpetuating their memory by monuments. On those old grounds are many markers. Maine has been the last to unveil hers, but many more will follow and when the work shall have been completed these stones will stand out like confederate sentinels once stood. Only they will be harmless—they won't be able to shoot the helpless—beg pardon again. However, it's all over now and we are once more a reunited country. If you don't think so just study the last election returns from Missouri."

The Maine party made its home while in Atlanta at the Piedmont and during the morning was driven around the city behind four in hands. The party, there were two wagons, were shown the state house, the federal prison—they liked that building, the chamber of commerce, the court house and other buildings of the city. In the early afternoon they were lunched at the Piedmont and at 5 o'clock left for St. Louis.

At the Peachtree inn is Captain John C. Brain, one of the most distinguished officers of the confederate navy during the early sixties. Captain Brain floated the briny deep under the flag of the confederacy and before the end of that conflict was looked upon as one of the most progressive and energetic men in the navy opposing the union gunboats. At the end of the war he destroyed his vessel and was detained in prison by the national government until 1869, when he was released. Information has just reached Captain Brain that he has fallen heir to something like $4,000,000, the estate coming his way being located in England. Captain Brain is now in Atlanta consulting with attorneys who have been investigating the situation. He will leave for England within the next few months and when he returns Captain Brain will be much richer in worldly possessions than he is at present.

And Captain Brain's friends will rejoice with him in his prosperity.

The Hotel Men's Association will hold its next meeting during the coming month at the Piedmont.

FAIRBANKS GOES TO THE FAIR.

Vice President Elect Is Viewing St. Louis Show.

St. Louis, November 15.—Vice President-elect Fairbanks arrived here today from Indianapolis over the Vandalia, and was met at the union station by President Francis, of the exposition, and Colonel G. Butler. When Senator Fairbanks, unaccompanied, alighted, he made his way through the crowd until met by President Francis and Colonel Butler, who extended hearty greeting. The party then entered Colonel Butler's automobile and proceeded to the St. Louis club, where breakfast was taken, after which Senator Fairbanks was escorted to the world's fair.

Senator Fairbanks said his decision to visit the exposition had been made hastily and that he would not be able to remain more than a day.

"I am feeling very well," he said, "and want to see the exposition if I have to walk all the time I am here."

Arrangements were made for entertaining the vice president-elect and showing him as much of the exposition as possible in the limited period of his visit.

McCnats, who brought them from that state to Alabama before there were any railroads in this part of the country, the journey being then made by stage.

The Dallas News expresses it right: "The report that the president is disposed to treat the south magnamimously is not especially happy. The south does not wish to be treated magnanimously, but justly. That is all."

On the Political Toboggan.

The chairmen of the republican and democratic congressional campaign committees had a fight for their political lives in the recent election. Mr. Cowherd, who has long represented the Kansas City district in Missouri, fell by the wayside entirely, and his republican colleague, Joseph W. Babcock, of Wisconsin, only escaped the same fate by the skin of his teeth. The retirement of Mr. Cowherd from congress leaves a vacancy, not only in the office mentioned, but on the democratic side of the house, which will be hard to fill.

The close call of Mr. Babcock calls for a few words in passing. Not so long ago he was one of the most popular members of the Wisconsin delegation in the estimation of his constituents. In 1900 he was reelected to congress by the immense plurality of 12,525 votes. His plurality in the recent election is said to have been under 300.

When Mr. Babcock was receiving his large pluralities he was an ardent tariff reformer, and his advocacy of revision and reciprocity was evidently in accord with the sentiments of his republican constituency. When the "Iowa idea" was in its prime in the republican northwest, Mr. Babcock was one of its most distinguished champions. He not only warmly espoused it with his constituents, but his influence in that direction was felt somewhat uncomfortably by the majority in congress. He was regarded as one of his party's pestiferous "blanket Indians."

After the Chicago convention Mr. Babcock sang exceedingly low about the "Iowa idea." If he sang about it at all, it was to his inner consciousness. The dictum of the "protection" bosses of the republican party had gone forth, and Babcock, with the rest of the western tariff malcontents, toed the "stand pat" mark.

Then came the local split among Wisconsin republicans as the result of the determination of the corporation interests to retire Governor LaFollette and his radical school of politics. Congressman Babcock was one of the ring leaders with Senators Spooner and Quarles to compass the bold little governor's political undoing and drive the last trace of "LaFolletteism" out of Wisconsin. The will of this "big three" was law at the Chicago convention, but the subsequent triumph of LaFollette in obtaining recognition as to his party status through the courts is now familiar political history. The "stalwart" faction of the republican party in Wisconsin, led by Spooner-Quarles-Babcock, was discredited from the very beginning of the state campaign. The only question was whether its disaffection would prove potent enough to enable the democrats to elect George W. Peck governor.

Naturally, the factional attitude of Babcock cost him hundreds and hundreds of republican votes in the congressional election. His opponent was a strong, clean man, and his advocacy of the righteous tariff principles of the democracy was far from displeasing to republican sentiment in Babcock's district. Babcock, a year before, was coaching his constituents on the same lines, though under the "Iowa idea" label.

Had this not been a presidential year, the distinguished chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee would have lost his seat in congress to a democrat. The Roosevelt tidal wave carried him along with it, and he was barely able to land.

It is very doubtful if, two years hence, the Hon. Joseph W. Babcock is the nominee of his party for his old seat in congress.

Sid Lewis Stricken.

The announcement that Editor Sidney Lewis, of The Sparta (Ga.) Ishmaelite, has been stricken with paralysis, will be heard with regret throughout the ranks of the press in Georgia.

Editor Lewis has for years been one of the most active and spirited workers in the field of weekly journalism in this state. His editorial management of his aggressive and spirited journal has been marked by absolute fearlessness, a keen sense of justice and the unwavering adherence to his principles. If he has at times gone to extremes and criticised unreservedly, it has always been in opposition to what he believed to be inimical to the interests of the people of the state.

Editor Lewis is a brother of Rev. Walker Lewis, a leading pastor of Atlanta for many years, and the people of this city join with those of Hancock county in hoping for the recovery of the distinguished editor.

A Bumper Corn Crop.

The final estimate of the department of agriculture on this year's corn crop is out. The probable yield is placed at the enormous figure of 2,453,000,000 bushels.

If these figures are borne out by the harvest, now practically over, the 1904 corn crop will be the largest in the history of the country, barring the phenomenal crop of 1902, when the bumper result of 2,523,648,312 bushels was recorded.

It is noteworthy in passing that the government's final estimate on corn before the final estimate on all grains is given a little later, is only 10,000,000 bushels under the estimate of the produce exchange, based on the October conditions. James J. Hill, the great northwestern magnate, who has reason to be regarded as a cereal statistical forecaster of the first rank, placed his corn estimate for 1904 at 500,000,000 bushels less than the present government estimate, and his action resulted in a decided bull movement a few weeks ago. Mr. Hill is understood to still adhere to his figures in the face of the official forecast, but it is now certain that he is far below the mark.

The country will accept the larger figure as a boon and blessing, especially as the tendency of a bumper corn crop will be to neutralize the abnormally high price of wheat. In many instances corn can be made to take the place of wheat. Here in the south the maize of the red man is indeed the staff of life.

Moderate-priced corn is also a vital factor in regulating the price of meat to a living basis.

The Revival and Charity.

The sermon of Dr. C. J. Harris, of the Universalist church, Sunday morning, in which he criticised the management of the recent gospel union revival in Atlanta for expending from $8,000 to $12,000 to conduct the great series of religious meetings, has been widely commented upon locally.

Dr. Harris deprecated the expenditure of this large sum of money for the generation of spiritual enthusiasm in the Master's Cause when, as he pointed out, that sum might have been expended in the physical relief of the poor and needy of Atlanta to infinitely a more Christian advantage. Dr. Harris' inference was that the mere spiritual side of Christianity as manifested in an outpouring of the spirit of grace at a revival is not practical Christianity in the literal light of the Divine Founder's life and precepts in comparison with the Christianity that feeds the hungry, clothes the naked, ministers to the sick and visits the imprisoned.

"What if this $10,000 were given to our Salvation Army or the King's Daughters?" Dr. Harris asked. "I tell you, every nook and corner, crevice and alley of Atlanta would feel the force of it. We would thereby prove the possession of true religion."

We take it that no Christian will consider it an open question that Christianity must take cognizance of the bodies and material well-being of men, as well as of man's spiritual well being. All agree that it is not enough to preach salvation and pass by on the other side of the social victim of the world's thugs and robbers. There may be such priests and Levites in the church, but they are not Christians.

But Dr. Harris seems to have lost sight of one great, palpable truth, which, we think, is the milk in the argumentative cocoanut. A revival of religion such as that which blessed Atlanta a fortnight ago, is necessary to put men and women in the Christian mood to play the good Samaritan. By such a generous outpouring of the Holy Spirit purse-strings are relaxed and the hand of charity is opened.

If, as is alleged, the grand revival of the Atlanta Business Men's Gospel Union cost $10,000, so far from withholding needed money from local charities, the spirit of charity and human fellowship engendered by that revival should easily result in double or treble that large sum being expended as free-will offerings to suffering humanity.

This should be the practical result of a genuine revival, the proportions of the one lately held in Atlanta, and The Constitution believes it will bear that kind of fruit in Atlanta. Surely this gracious result will follow, if the spiritual side of Atlanta was affected as there is reason to believe the big revival quickened it. An open heart through a season of evangelical effort logically leads to an open pocket.

This should be the beneficent result, and, looking at the matter in its pecuniary relation to local charity and benevolence, the revival should prove to be a good investment from every standpoint. It should directly result in a large increase of the free-will offerings to the poor and needy within our gates. Hundreds to whom the blessed sensation is new should experience the blessedness of giving.

The Constitution believes the money spent in the organization and conduct of the great revival was money well expended, and that the bread of charity will return many fold on the spiritual water.

BOY STRANGELY DISAPPEARS.

Mystery of Leo Fleischmann Baffles Police of Country.

New York, November 15.—Another of those strange disappearances which from time to time baffle every source of inquiry is now engaging the attention of the police of this city and the whole country.

On September 6, 16-year-old Leo Fleischmann, son of well-to-do parents and a student of the city college, left his home to take a lesson with his private tutor nearby. From the time he bade his mother goodby no word of the lad has been received. He disappeared without leaving a trace and while every resource known to the police, private detective agencies and newspaper energies has been utilized, the mystery is uncleared.

Leo is about 5 feet 5 inches in height, of fair complexion and weighs about 150 pounds. His parents have given up their handsome home and now live in a hotel, devoting their energies and means to the search for their missing boy.

ROOSEVELT MEETS CABINET.

Secretaries Hay and Metcalf the Only Absentees.

Washington, November 15.—Secretaries Hay and Metcalf were the only absentees from the meeting of the cabinet today, the former being detained at his home by reason of the death of his brother and the latter not yet having returned from California. The president devoted all of the time of the meeting to a discussion of his forthcoming annual message to congress with the members of the cabinet present. No intimation in the nature of a subject considered was given. The president is anxious to finish his message before his trip to the St. Louis exposition and is giving all the time possible to its preparation. It is well in hand now and it probably will be placed in the hands of the printer early next week.

"JUST FROM GEORGIA."

When the Cold Day Comes Along.

When the cold day came along with its halleluia song,
You were sighing for the pastures where the daisies used to throng;
But when you knew those pastures you were hunting for the glooms,
Though the bees were making honey in a holiday of blooms!

Strange world, good people!
Never satisfied at all
With the roses of the Springtime
Or the gold leaves of the fall!

When you own the whole plantation there is trouble at the door;
If you cornered all creation you'd be envying the poor!
You'd be growlin' at the landscape, if you ever took your stand
And saw the shining beauty of the ancient promised land!

Strange world, believers!
Never satisfied at all
When you're in the summer gardens,
Or the golden groves of fall!

Don't you think if, once in heaven, with the good folk you should meet,
You'd expect them all to lead you to the very highest seat?
And then, in perfect safety, find lots of fault, and frown
If the very brightest jewels were not given for your crown?

Strange world, believers!
Never satisfied at all,
If you're living in the hovel,
Or the master of the hall!

Winter Notes from Billville.

The good times have come to Georgia, and we met the wagon half-way down the road, and jumped on the front seat with the driver.

Cotton enough in the country to cover us, corn enough to feed us, and fiddles enough to keep the whole state dancing.

We have decided to take good, fat turkeys on subscription until after the holidays. But we don't need any cotton: There's so much of it in the country we've had to draw the line on it.

Our Christmas friends are coming in on every train. We're so popular at the Christmas season that if we throw our hat in the air everybody shouts "Hooray!"

It was almost cold enough to freeze the moonshine distilleries the other morning; but that wouldn't have mattered much: The old colonels stated they were extremely fond of that kind of cracked ice.

Machine Shops Burn.

Nashville, November 15.—The machine shops and engine houses of the Renecke Coal Mining Company at Madisonville, Ky., have been destroyed by fire, entailing a heavy loss, partly covered by insurance. Many miners were left at the bottom of the shaft several hours, as the engines could not be operated to pull them to the top.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

In Answer to Northern Republican.

Editor Constitution: Will you permit brief comment on the letter of the northern republican in you today's issue?

The writer of this is a Jeffersonian democrat in the ranks, never a candidate for office and with no aspirations in that direction, so that his position is analogous to that of the neorthern republican except that the republican is a man of prominence, and your present writer is one of the obscure and toiling millions.

Your northern correspondent says truly that the republican party has become the party of conservatism, meaning thereby that it stands pat for favoritism, privilege, centralized power, militarism, and in general what we call the Hamiltonian theory of government. He might have gone further and said that it has been on that side ever since the civil war, but has never admitted the fact until now, when with the insolence of unlimited and unbridled power it feels strong enough to throw off all pretense and stand forward as the exponent in government of the lusts of the flesh.

He says truly that the democratic party stands for radicalism, and this is measurably true; that is, the vast majority of the party north and south would be classed as radicals, though unfortunately certain conservative elements which naturally belong to the republican party have latterly had too much influence in the councils of the democratic party. For Thomas Jefferson was the foremost radical of his day, and when the party professing the principles laid down by Jefferson ceases to be radical in propagating and defending these principles, and in advocating new policies which new conditions compel a true democracy to advocate, then the time has come for the democratic party to go out of business and permit some party with more courage and more radicalism to take up the fight.

Exultant with victory, he says that the republican party neither needs nor fears the solid south. For his information be it known that the solid south is not particularly anxious to be feared, but as he evidently thinks the republican party is synonymous with the country, he is very much mistaken if he thinks the country does not need the solid south, and what is more, the time will come when the country's need of the solid south will be both imperative and instant.

He thinks we should divide on economic lines, because he believes, and believes truly, that we do not all think alike, and it is a certain fact that under proper conditions we would divide along lines of social and economic polity. But assuming this to be true, what claim could the republican party put forward for the allegiance of the southerner, except the plea made by Satan to our Savior, the kingdoms of this world, sordid pelf for self, absolutely regardless of the consequences to our children and grandchildren, of our selfish conduct? Not so did our radical forefathers argue; they said, "We be willing to risk all things, suffering and death, so that only our children may be free."

What is there in the record of the republican party to attract to it any southern man who is far enough removed from idiocy to have sufficient memory to recall the history of the past thirty years? Your correspondent says our indignation over the Booker Washington incident was childish and amusing to the superior northern mind. He merely speaks from the plentitude of his own ignorance and his own prejudices.

It is but the application of the old fable as to whose ox was gored that make the different points of view. Had he and his suffered at the hands of the south, what we and ours have suffered at the hands of the north, in creating for us the most cancerous sore in our national life, and then laughing at us for childishness, what would be the result? Every one knows that under such conditions the descendants of the Puritans would hate us as bitterly as their ancestors hated the supporters of King Charles.

In conclusion, the south neither fears, nor needs, the republican party. It was born in hatred of us, nourished on hatred of us and thriven on hatred of us. Let it do its worst. Let it reduce our congressional representation if it wants, and, as General Keifer says, it will do. We will still maintain a white man's government and a white man's civilization here, and should the time ever come when the policies of the republican party shall entirely prevail, and a mongrel civilization shall have been foisted on the solid south, then may God help the American people, for the help of man will be vain.

A JEFFERSONIAN DEMOCRAT IN THE RANKS.

"Be of Good Cheer."

Editor Constitution: A few days since, in a leading editorial, you earnestly exhorted the remocrats of the country not to weep or repine over their recent defeat in the presidential election, but still "be of good cheer."

The democratic masses of this country are now of more than usual good cheer. In the last nomination and election of the democratic presidential nominee they were hoodwinked, misled, and forced to yield to the dictation and leadership of that plutocratic element who falsely claimed to be the "sound and sane" democracy, and who have no right or place in our democratic ranks. That element, as a dangerous and disastrous innovation upon true democracy, met their Waterloo on November 8, and are now too dead for resurrection or further annoyance in democratic councils. Hence the future of the democratic party is brightened and made far more hopeful through this elimination, and the democratic hosts, believing that final reward will come to them who well and wisely watch and wait, are of exceeding good cheer.

It is idle, yea, the foolish babbling of ignorance, to talk about the democratic party being dead. The democratic party, founded upon true and sound principles of democracy, is essentially coexistent and continuous with popular form of government, and can only die when this free American republic, the heritage from our forefathers, is transformed into a monarchical power. It is the party of the people, the constitutional party, calling to its ranks and its leadership those whose patriotism, whose love of liberty, whose advocacy of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, will ever make the grand old democratic party a never surrendering, but an ever battling barrier to those plutocratic and undemocratic innovations and encroachments which now so seriously threaten the safety of our republican institutions.

No, the democratic party is not dead, nor sleepeth, and since the presidential battle of 1904 has cleared its ranks, true democracy, phoenix-like, arising ere the smoke of battle has cleared away, with its ranks purified, with new life, with new strength and vigor, and rallying around its standard the democratic masses of the south and west, whose common interests bring them into most natural alliance, will reform and reorganize the time-honored old party, and with constitutional democracy enscribed upon its banners will prepare for a glorious victory for the people in 1908.

H. H. CARLTON.

Athens, Ga., November 14, 1904.

A VICTORY FAR REACHING WAS GAINED BY THE STATE

Capitol Officials Much Interested in Supreme Court Decision as to Western of Alabama Stock--Official Congressional Figures.

IT is conceded that in the decision of the United States supreme court declaring that Georgia has the right under her constitution and laws to levy and collect a tax upon the $1,500,000 capital stock of the Western Railway of Alabama, owned by the Georgia Railroad and Banking company, the state has won undoubtedly the biggest tax victory in its history.

With state capitol officials the account of this decision as presented in yesterday's Constitution, was the sole topic of discussion yesterday. Governor Terrell, Attorney General Hart and Comptroller General Wright were, perhaps, the most deeply interested, and they met and talked it over during the morning.

At the lowest calculation, this decision means that at least $80,000 which has not been counted on, will be paid into the state treasury.

This means another reduction in the state tax rate. This year it was reduced from $5 to $4.80 on $1,000. Next year with this coming increase in the treasury's fund the tax rate can, no doubt, be reduced to $4.60.

If the state's income under this decision should be still larger than $80,000, as the result of back taxes due on the stock, it would be possible to still further reduce the tax rate.

But an important feature of this decision is that it does not affect alone the case in question. It does not apply alone to railroad stocks, but to any stock in any foreign corporation, which is owned in this state. Under this decision any Georgian owning stock in a cotton mill or in any corporation of any kind located in another state, must pay taxes upon it.

That there is a vast amount of stock in foreign corporations of many sorts owned in Georgia, there is no doubt, and tax receivers all over the state will be instructed to seek it out and get it upon the tax books. Indeed, instructions to this effect have been given heretofore by Comptroller General Wright, but owing to the fact that the question was in litigation these instructions have been carried out in very few, if any, cases. In future instructions to tax receivers and collectors the comptroller general will call attention to this supreme court decision, and will notify these officials that it is their duty under the law to seek out such stock and see to it that taxes are paid upon it.

So interested were the capitol officials in the matter that they wired yesterday to Washington for a full copy of the decision and opinion of the court, and these are expected the latter part of the week.

Adverse Georgia Decision.

This victory is the more remarkable in that the state's counsel had to contend with an adverse decision of the Georgia supreme court. This Georgia decision, handed down some time in the early '70's, declared that stock in a foreign corporation was not taxable in this state.

Governor Terrell, as attorney general, and Attorneys General Boykin Wright and J. C. Hart, held that the constitution of 1877 abrogated whatever of law was contained in that decision of the state supreme court because the constitution declared that all property should be taxed ad valorem to the same extent; and they held that the capital stock of any corporation is property. This contention appears to have been fully sustained in the decision of the United States supreme court.

This decision should, therefore, bring millions of dollars of property onto the state tax books outside of the Western of Alabama stock, which was the only specific property involved in this case, and it will do so unless the owners of stock in foreign corporations are successful in eluding the tax gatherer.

The conclusion was reached yesterday in discussing the case that the Georgia railroad will be liable to at least five years' taxes on its holdings of Western of Alabama stock, instead of four years as was stated. The reason for this is that while the matter was first taken into court in 1901, after demand had been made for the payment of taxes, the case was based on taxes for 1900. Thus, under the decision, taxes will have to be paid for 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903 and 1904. It is quite probable, as was stated in The Constitution, that these back taxes can be collected for seven years past, and even possible that they may be collected for fifteen years, the whole time that the stock has been owned in Georgia.

But, even if only five years' taxes can be collected on it, that will mean $40,000 to the state from the Georgia railroad alone. This amount will have to be paid by the Louisville and Nashville and the Atlantic Coast Line, lessees of the Georgia, which have guaranteed all taxes on the property leased, and this Western of Alabama stock is a part of it.

Central of Georgia, Too.

Then, the state expects to collect a like amount from the Central of Georgia Railway Company on the other $1,500,000 of Western of Alabama stock, of which it is the owner, making a total of about $80,000.

But the Central of Georgia says its part of the stock is not in Georgia at all; it is in New York city, where it is held by a trust company as security for an issue of bonds.

To this the state replies that this fact does not change the ownership of the stock. It is still owned by the Central of Georgia Railway Company, which is a citizen of Georgia, and is merely hypothecated practically as security for a loan. The Central not only continues owner of the stock, but votes it and draws the dividends upon it.

It is said that all decisons of the supreme court on this subject hold to the effect that the owner of hypothecated securities is still the owner of them for the purposes of taxation. Personal property is taxable always at the residence of its owner, no matter where it may be located.

So firmly is this principle established, that it is not believed the Central of Georgia will make a serious contest in the courts. State officials feel tolerably sure, therefore, that the taxes will be paid by the Central without a continuance of the litigation.

It is believed, too, that no further effort will be made to avoid the payment of taxes on these stocks. Whether the Georgia railroad can sell its holdings is a matter of much doubt. Under the lease contract, this stock is stil lowned by the Georgia; but the voting power is in the name of the Louisville and Nashville and the Atlantic Coast Line.

It is reasonably certain, too, that the Central of Georgia cannot well dispose of its holdings, nor is it likely that it would desire to do so. State officials believed, therefore, that Georgia will continue to collect taxes on this $3,000,000 of stock in the Western Railway of Alabama for some time to come.

Cities and Counties Benefit.

Richmond county and the city of Augusta will come in for their share of taxes on the Western of Alabama stock held by the Georgia railroad, while Chatham county and the city of Savannah will both collect taxes on the stock held by the Central of Georgia.

This means an enormous expense to the owners of this stock. City and county taxes combined are far in excess of the amount that will have to be paid the state, and it is probable that Augusta and Richmond county will collect in back taxes on this stock something like a total of $60,000, while a like amount will go to the city of Savannah and Richmond county from the Central of Georgia; perhaps the amount will be even larger than this.

The Western of Alabama stock is considerably above par. There are no bonds on the Western of Alabama, and the stock is therefore a good paying investment besides carrying with it the control of that road.

Another Case Pending.

Another case of this kind which came up on a demand for taxes by Comptroller General Wright, is now pending before Judge W. T. Newman in the United States circuit court here, and it is a case in which the decision of the supreme court will, no doubt, control.

Comptroller General Wright sought to collect taxes on $383,000 of Atlanta and West Point debentures, owned by the Georgia railroad, but held by the Louisville and Nashville and Atlantic Coast Line under the lease. He has been restrained by injunction just as in the other case, but this case has never been argued.

It is believed now there is no doubt that these debentures will be declared taxable, and they, too, will have to pay back taxes for several years.

Comptroller General Wright has an important share in this great victory. One of Georgia's ablest and most faithful and conscientious officials, it was he who sought out this property that has been escaping taxation, and it was upon his initiative that the question was first taken up. He insisted that the property was taxable, and when payment of taxes was refused, he levied on property belonging to the companies concerned. It was then he was stopped by injunction from proceeding with his executions until the matter could be determined by the courts. Now that it has been determined the state is the beneficiary, and all the state will feel it for some time to come in the consequent reduction of taxation.

Congressional Returns.

Secretary of State Philip Cook yesterday completed the consolidation of the returns from the various congressional districts, showing the vote for each candidate for congress.

There are three counties yet to be heard from, Cherokee and Rabun, in the ninth district, and Columbia in the tenth. None of these have any bearing upon the results, but their vote will add something to the general total.

The consolidation of the congressional vote, the three counties named excepted, shows that 94,398 votes were cast for the democratic candidates for congress. This is a somewhat larger vote than was cast for the democratic presidential ticket.

Emanuel county gave seventy votes for R. M. Hitch for congress. He was the captain who was recently dismissed from the state service on account of charges growing out of his actions at Statesboro, while in command of troops sent there to prevent the lynching of two negroes.

State Capitol News.

Camden county is thoroughly satisfied with St. Mary's as its county seat, as is shown by the returns of an election on that subject which were received yesterday at the governor's office. Woodbine contested the question with St. Mary's which is the present county seat. St. Mary's got 398 votes, while Woodbine received only 319, and it requires a two-thirds majority to make the change. The county seat will, therefore, remain at St. Mary's.

The state department of entomology has just issued an important bulletin dealing with the San Jose scale, the deadly enemy of the peach tree. The bulletin is the joint work of State Entomologist Wilmon Newell, and his assistant R. I. Smith. It deals with the experimental work that has been done by the department, and gives results from the use of various mixtures used for spraying the trees with a view to killing out the scale. The bulletin is an important one for every fruit grower in the state, and will be furnished on application to the state entomologist.

The prison commission was in session yesterday and heard several applications for pardon which were not reached early in the month. Commutation to present service was recommended in the case of Jeff Thomas, who was sentenced to life imprisonment from Putnam county for the murder of another negro named Oscar Scott. Thomas has already served fifteen years in the penitentiary. Several other cases will be disposed of during the week.

BURGLAR IS HELD IN TWO CASES

Alleged Viaduct Burglar Was Tried Before Recorder.

Officer Bayne Tells How He Captured the Notorious Burglar Who Had Long Baffled the Police— Prisoner Makes No Statement.

Ed Alexander, alias Bill Bailey, alias the "Viaduct Burglar," the negro who was caught last Saturday night while burglarizing Oppenheim's saloon in the Prudential building, was arraigned before Record Broyles yesterday afternoon for a preliminary trial. He was held in two cases of burglary under bonds of $1,000 in each case.

Officer Bayne told how he had captured the burglar.

"Officer Hollingsworth and I," stated Officer Bayne, "were together Saturday night doing duty in citizens' clothes. About 2 o'clock Sunday morning I saw a negro in Oppenheim's saloon in the act of taking cigars from a show case. I spoke to Officer Hollingsworth and immediately opened fire on the burglar. I fired two shots through a plate glass window. The negro dodged behind the counter and ran toward the rear of the store. I thought he was trying to escape through the rear door, and knowing what a premium was set on the head of the notorious and daring viaduct burglar, I smashed the plate glass window with the butt of my pistol and entered through the opening I had made. My hand was cut as I did so. Officer Hollingsworth followed me, and we caught this negro crouching behind a counter. On his person were found a bunch of keys, a jimmy and a lot of jewelry. He had on a pair of shoes that had come from the store of the Carhart Shoe Company, No. 11 Viaduct place."

Shoes Had Been Stolen.

A clerk for the Carhart Shoe Company testified that the shoes found on the negro had been taken from a box on the night the store was burglarized, about two weeks ago.

The prisoner declined to make any statement. He merely admitted that he had been caught in the saloon.

"I have two lawyers to defend me," he remarked, "and I don't care to talk about the case."

He was held for burglarizing Oppenheim's saloon and the store of the Carhart Shoe Company.

The police still believe that Alexander is not the only person connected with the mysterious viaduct burglaries and that the negro will make a full confession before his final trial.

IN THE COURTS.

Other Court News.

Linnie May Hamer, by her next friend, filed suit for $5,000 damages against the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, as the successor of the Atlanta Rapid Transit Company. She claims that on May 5, 1901, while riding on a Rapid Transit car, returning to the city from Lakewood, the car in which she was riding collided with another car, severely injuring her.

W. C. Elmore filed suit yesterday afternoon against the Georgia Railway and Electric Company for $5,000 damages. He alleges in his petition that on November 13 he was on a street car in Atlanta on the Woodward avenue line.

He says that while the car was on Capitol avenue, between Capitol square and Fair street, the car became unmanageable and was soon going at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

Just as it reached Fair street, he says, he was thrown from the rear platform, by the rocking of the car, fell on the pavement and was severely injured. He is represented by Burton Smith and J. A. Branch.

In the second division of the city court the suit for damages filed by John W. O'Shields and Mrs. Sallie O'Shields against the Georgia Railway and Electric Company was taken up. The time of the court was consumed in securing a jury and taking testimony for the plaintiff.

No meeting of the grand jury for criminal business will be called for some time. Solicitor Hill stated yesterday afternoon that he did not intend to call a meeting before December to try criminal business, though the members might meet earlier for county affairs.

B. W. Tuton, the young man who was some time ago arrested by Call Officers Lindsay and Gallagher, charged with making an attempt to kill Mrs. J. D. Dorman, 11 Garnett street, was tried Monday afternoon before Judge Roan and sentenced to one year in the chaingang.

Tuton, it is alleged, slipped into the room of Mrs. Dorman one night several weeks ago and tried to stab her with a knife. She awakened in time to save her life, but received a bad cut in her hand, while trying to protect herself and ward off the blow.

Tuton was found the same night by Call Officers Lindsay and Gallagher hidden in a basket.

CORNERSTONE IS PLACED AT NEW BAPTIST CHURCH

Scene at Laying of Cornerstone of First Baptist Church, Corner of Peachtree and Cain Streets, Yesterday.

Ceremonies Were Conducted by Ministers and Masons and Were Witnessed by a Large Gathering of Spectators.

On the platform the contractors had constructed for the occasion were gathered the leading ministers of the city, as well as the best known churchmen of Atlanta, to witness the laying of the cornerstone of the new Baptist church on Peachtree at Cain street.

In front of the platform intended for the ministers and the church officers had been arranged an amphitheater, upon which chairs to accommodate fully five hundred people had been placed, and each of these was taken, while in every aisle and upon the walls of the building stood people anxious to hear and see what was going on. Out on Peachtree and Cain streets were gathered those who could not find space within the inclosure. Within the wall the contractors had built there was a great gathering to observe the exercises.

It was 3 o'clock when Dr. Landrum, the pastor, opened the exercises. He requested all present to arise and repeat the Lord's prayer, and the voices in unison made a melody that charmed everyone within hearing of the repetition. Full and resounding was the saying of the Lord's prayer. It reached the most remote lines of the gathering, and within those lines it was given voice.

"How Firm a Foundation Have I," came next, and to its attention the pastor directed the gathering. It was with an energy and life the gathering rolled out the lines. Many expressions of faith in that old story were observed before the end came.

The pastor of the church followed with a reading of the scriptures.

The history, rather an epitome of the history of the Baptist church in Atlanta, was read by Mr. Maddox. It showed that the house now under construction was the third in Atlanta. The first, Mr. Maddox's recital showed, was in 1847, the second was in 1868 and the third is now under way. Mr. Maddox presented in his papers the cost of each of the buildings. The first one was constructed at small figures. The second one cost $30,000, while the one now under way will call for $160,000.

Dr. C. W. Byrd, pastor of the First Methodist church, was then presented, and for fifteen minutes entertained his audience. From the inception of his talk to the conclusion, he complimented and congratulated the Baptists on the work they had done from the origin of that denomination up to the present.

It was Dr. Pace, of the Jackson Hill church, who pronounced the benediction, after which the laying of the cornerstone was turned over to the Masons, Deputy Grand Master Jeffries in charge. The gathering was dispersed by a prayer and then the Masons assumed control of the situation. The Knights Templar were out in force as an escort, and were prominent in the exercises.

The articles to be deposited in the cornerstone had been read by an officer of the church and were then in the hands of the Masons. The cornerstone was raised to a point of vantage for the Masons, and the articles scheduled were deposited in the receptacle. Then the stone was given its final location, and with the clapping of hands by the Masons the exercises were at an end.

The body of the church is now assuming shape, and within the next few weeks the walls of the building will be showing themselves over the fences which have been constructed by the builders.

FAMOUS ATLANTA WEATHER INVIGORATING AND BRACING

Weather of Yesterday Caused Pleasant Comment of Visitors and Was Thoroughly Enjoyed by All—To-day's Forecast.

THE weather today is likely to be fair with a tendency to warmer.

Yesterday was a typical Atlanta day in November with just the right amount of invigorating, bracing air to make every Atlantan pardonably proud of the special favors bestowed by Providence. It was pardonably proud of the special favors bestowed by Providence. It was—

"The weather that has made Atlanta famous."

It is not such a far cry from Atlanta to Washington and other large cities in the north—geographically, that is.

But weather-wise, well, Washington et al. have been something like a million miles away or a little less perhaps in a straight line.

While snow and sleet were claiming New York for their very own, the Gate City of the South was being bathed in the Georgia sunshine and the tonic-giving air that is as much hers as is the center of the commercial map of the south.

While business men in great coats and ladies in furs were tacking against the wind and the storm up Broadway or across the asphalt of Pennsylvania avenue, Whitehall and Peachtree streets were crowded with a merry throng who were attending to their business interests, shopping or just moving up and down for the pure pleasure of living in the out-of-doors of Atlanta. What's more, they weren't wrapped to their ears in cumbersome garments that made of walking a most uncomfortable exercise. They were parading up and down the streets with their coats and their jackets thrown open and drinking in the air that was free for all—all those so fortunate as to live or be in Atlanta.

There have been a great many railroad men in the city from all parts of the south as far north as Washington. When they were not talking of the freight situation, they seemed to think of nothing but the Atlanta weather.

"The only thing I don't like about the conferences of the railroads with the citizens' committee of Atlanta," said one, "is the fact that all of the sessions are being held on the inside. I only wish we could get together on the street or in one of the parks. This sort of thing is too rare and too precious to miss by being shut indoors. Of course Atlantans don't appreciate it. They can't. They are used to it and so they made us all come on the inside to talk over things of common interest.

"But even while we were on the inside, we had the windows open and the bracing air that came in—well, it was something that made me feel like I used to a good many years ago when I sat at a desk in school and looked out of the window at the great free world and longed for the pleasure of living in it. That's the way I felt, and so did all of the other railroad men who were here. We felt as though we were being kept in at recess.

"As for freight rates discriminating against Atlanta, they ought to. They ought to be about eleven times as high as any other city in the union. Why? Just to offset the weather and Providence and the map, and lots of other things that discriminate so pointedly and so practically in favor of this city. It isn't right. Corporations and everything else ought to conspire and discriminate against you. It wouldn't matter. People would come here to live just the same and perhaps you would appreciate some of your God-given gifts a little more.

"Just look at you, a city builded on a mountain over 1,100 feet above the sea with a cool, bracing air that belongs to such an elevation for a foundation and the balmy, health-giving sunshine of old Dixie for a beautiful covering. Discriminated against? It's rot.

"You've got more given to you free without any limitations of franchises or leases or anything else than all the corporations of the world could bring. And I don't mind saying that you are the best people that even happened except where you get overly interested in railroad matters, and that will be settled all right—but there isn't any doubt in my mind but that you are spoiled with being the center of everything geographically and the envy of everything from a weather point of view, and all because you are used to these marvelous privileges and take them as a matter of course."

Then another man from Texas spoke up and followed along the same general trend of conversation. "And what am I doing for an honest living?" he began, "am I living in all this beautiful sunshine and bracing atmosphere? I am not. I'm struggling with the duties of my job and the malaria that, like the rain, falls upon the just and the unjust of those who live in Texas. But unlike the rain, the malaria germs are not dissipated with a dry spell. They stay right with you and enter your system like a thief in the night and become a part of your very life, a chilly, shaking, unhappy part that makes you hate yourself for getting up in the morning and nervous and restless with the mere thought of going to bed at night.

"Why I've been getting so strong since I came to Atlanta that I wake up in the middle of the room every morning with so much beastly rude health piled on my chest I can hardly wait until I get into my clothes to get down to the breakfast table, and eat more in a single meal than I would in a week in Texas. Don't you use my name, because I'm living in Texas and I don't want to be unpopular when I go back, but it's the truth, a very discriminating Providence has given to Atlanta and all who live here just what the doctor ordered and it's the greatest tonic ever dispensed for the cure of every disease. And, like the patent medicine advertisements, it only takes one trial to prove it. If I had my way, I would charge $1,000 a hundred on all classes of freight from Atlanta to the city of Griffin and other points in proportion."

The spirit of the Gift-time!

It's already in the air and our displays are ready for the buyer of beautiful things.

Here's the Jewelry stock unusually splendid this season; the Precious Stones, set and unset, the Watches, the Silverware, the Cut Glass, the Leather things, the Umbrellas. Then the Art Rooms with their treasures of pottery, bric-a-brac, miniatures, tapestries, Japanese wares, and so on.

Surely the inspiration for happy choice awaits you here.

Compress Company Wants Spur Track To Be Let Alone.

Judge Lumpkin granted a temporary restraining order yesterday afternoon, at the request of the Capitola Compress Company, preventing the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company and the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railroad from changing, interfering with, or otherwise disturbing the spur track running alongside the property of the compress company on Pearl street until order of the court.

The two defendant companies are ordered by the court to appear before him November 19, at 9 o'clock, and show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

According to the statements made in the petition, the Capitola Compress Company purchased some time ago a lot on the corner of Pearl street and the right of way of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company from Mrs. Annie Stephens, paying for it a large sum.

They expected to erect on this property a cotton compress. Previous to this purchase there was a side track along the right of way of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, which was subsequently removed by the company with the understanding with the owners of the property that the track should be replaced should any such improvements be made, such as the erection of a cotton compress.

When the compress was erected, at a cost of $45,000, a spur track was built by the railroad connecting the compress with the main track, and another track was built entering the compress company property.

In September, 1903, the Capitola Compress Company leased this property to the Atlanta Compress Company for a sum of $7,500 a year. The petitioners were recently notified by the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, so they claim, that the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railroad had acquired the right of changing and using the spur track. Afterwards they claim to have received notice from the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern Railroad Company that the company had decided to convert the spur track into a drill track, which the petitioners assert will work material injury to their property.

In order to prevent this change, the injunction was asked.

Ministers' Union Gets Grand Jury to Act.

Savannah, Ga., November 15.—(Special.) The union of ministers of the city has succeeded in inducing the grand jury to look into certain charges that the union has made of gambling dens and Sunday whisky selling in Savannah. Some days ago the union presented a list of names of alleged witnesses, saying that the well known men appearing on the list could, if brought before the grand jury, give information that would result in indictments being returned. The grand jury answered, calling for something more definite and specific apparently it received that for which it sought in this line, for announcement is made that a number of well known men have been subpoenaed to appear and give evidence against the alleged violators of the law.

SOCIETY

HON. S. E. LEIGH SECRETLY WEDDED TO MRS. I. R. COLLEY

NEWNAN, Ga., November 15.—(Special.)—A very pretty romance, involving two of the best known people in this section of the state, one of whom is the representative from this county in the present legislature, and one of Coweta's most solid and substantial business men, and the other a prominent and widely admired woman, was made known here today in the announcement of the marriage in Atlanta last August of Hon. S. E. Leigh, of this city, to Mrs. I. R. Colley, of Grantville.

The culmination of the affair, which began years ago, when Professor Leigh was a school teacher, and Mrs Leigh his pretty and attractive pupil, who aroused in his breast even then the deepest solicitude, took place while Mr. Leigh was attending the last session of the legislature, and looking after the interests of his constituents in this county, and Mrs. Leigh, who was at that time Mrs. I. R. Colley, was on one of her frequent visits to Atlanta.

Mrs. Colley, young and handsome and a widow, immediately monopolized all the time and attention of her teacher of girlhood days, that was not taken up by the pressing duties of legislative affairs and was finally induced to say before another former pupil, Dr. H. S. Bradley, at his residence in Atlanta, and in the presence of two close friends who had been sworn to keep the happy secret, the words that united the lovers in matrimony.

The event occurred on August 3d, but no one was advised of it until today, when the news became generally known in this part of the state.

Mr. Leigh is very active politically in this part of the state and won a splendid victory in his race for reelection to the legislature. He was also conspicuous in that body for his support of the common schools of Georgia and farmers' institutes.

Mrs. Leigh is a daughter of Thomas C. Moreland, who was a successful planter and prominent business man of Coweta county. She is a graduate of La Grange Female college and of Wesleyan. She is independently wealthy, and has large business interests in this county, as has also her husband. Mr. Leigh is a large stock raiser and cotton farmer. The couple will in future reside at "Bonnie Castle," the beautiful home of the bride in Grantville.

Perhaps the wedding of no two people in this section could have caused more interest than this romantic marriage, nor called forth such hearty and widespread felicitations.

Howell-Bower.

THE marriage of Miss Adelaide Howell and Mr. Byron Bower will take place this evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Captain and Mrs. Evan Park Howell, of West End.

Mr. Earle Donaldson, of Bainbridge, will be best man, and Miss Rosalie Howell maid of honor. The bride's little nieces and nephews will be the other attendants. An informal reception will follow the ceremony, to be witnessed by relatives and intimate friends only. Mr. Bower and his bride leave on the night train for Mexico, where they will travel several weeks.

Isadore Rush.

THE announcement of the death of Isadore Rush will come as a shock and a source of deep regret to her many friends throughout the south, especially here in Atlanta, where she was not only a stage favorite, but where she had many friends and admirers in the social world. She was a woman of unusual force, being self-made in the professional sense, in that she was a young, almost inexperienced, girl when she made her debut upon the stage.

With her talent she was blessed with that necessary power of application, and each year found her achievement greater than the last, and for some time she was recognized as one of the most successful of the younger American actresses.

Off the stage she lost none of the magnetic charm that enthused her admirers in big audiences, but was the brightest and most sparkling of conversationalists, ever ready to lend her talents for the pleasure of her friends, whether it was to sing off hand one of her inimitable coon songs, or to tell some good story, one of her many roles being that of the clever raconteur.

Miss Rush has always been considered one of the best gowned women on the stage, and was proud of the fact that her smartest toilets she fashioned herself. Her hats as well, she trimmed, and those who knew her best declare that she was an adept in all the domestic arts—the knowledge of which one always finds to be an attribute of the well-balanced woman.

Misses Carroll Entertain.

MISSES KATE AND NAN CARROLL will be hostesses at a pretty afternoon tea from 4 until 7 o'clock this afternoon at their home on the Boulevard.

The occasion will be a compliment to their guest, Miss Jennie Wynne Dillon, of Thomasville, Ga., and a large number of guests have been invited to meet her.

In the receiving party will be the Misses Carroll, Miss Dillon and Mrs. Carroll, and they will stand in the front drawing room, which will be decorated in white and green. The dining room will be in red, and the library yellow, and besides the cut flowers there will be used a profusion of palms, ferns and autumn leaves.

Presiding at the punch bowl will be Miss Luella Maisby and Miss Janie Laird, while tea will be served by Miss Lucy Yancey and Miss Julia Knight Pace.

Assisting the Misses Carroll in the entertainment of their guests will be Mrs. Frank Berry, Mrs. Charles Bowen, Miss Minnie Atkinson, Miss Annie Grace Nixon, Mrs. William Percy, Miss Mary Ella Yancey and Miss Martha Harralson.

Miss Kate Carroll's gown will be of blue embroidered chiffon; Miss Nan Carroll will wear green chiffon; Miss Dillon will be in white, and Mrs. Carroll will be gowned in pale gray crepe de chine.

The gentlemen will be entertained from 6 until 7 o'clock.

Thanksgiving Party.

THE members of the social club of the Young Men's Christian Association are planning to give a large informal entertainment in the association hall on Thanksgiving night. It is to be given especially for the students of the various colleges of the city and their friends.

A large crowd is expected, and the success of the occasion promises to eclipse all former entertainments given by the club.

Ladies Serve Tea.

MRS. MABEL H. HEMPHILL and her committee will serve tea today from 11 until 2 o'clock and from 3 until 5 in the afternoon at the Oriental Bazar on the viaduct.

The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church, and a large patronage is solicited.

The ladies on Mrs. Hemphill's committee are Mrs. William Worth Martin, Mrs. W. P. Spalding, Mrs. Edgar Dunlap, Mrs. Logan Crichton, Mrs. Joseph Rhodes, Mrs. J. H. Crawford, Jr., Mrs. R. A. Baker, Mrs. Clarence May, Mrs. George W. Brooks and Mrs. Edgar Durant.

Cromer-Mashburn.

THE marriage of Miss Lucia Ardelle Cromer and Mr. William Olin Mashburn will be an interesting event of today. The ceremony will take place at 9 o'clock this evening at the home of the bride's cousin, Mrs. Philip Green, on Spring street, and will be followed by a reception.

Rev. J. H. Mashburn, father of the groom, will officiate, and there will be present a large number of guests.

The attendants will be Miss Annie Mashburn, maid of honor; Miss Sarah Simms, of Covington; Miss Delle Carlton, of Union Point, and Miss Ora Sue Mitchell, bridesmaids; best man, Mr. Fred Shivers, of Augusta; groomsmen, Dr. Marion Benson and Mr. Frank Wright. Little Misses Laurie Green and Clara Mitchell will be ribbon bearers.

The bride's gown will be a beautiful one of white olga crepe, and she will carry a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

After the reception, Mr. Mashburn and his bride will leave for a trip east, and on their return will make their home with Mrs. Cromer.

To Miss Edingt on.

MISSES M. A. and EFFIE BEALE PHELAN have issued invitations to a card party on Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at their home on Peachtree. The occasion will be in compliment to Miss Teddie Edrington, of Fort Worth, Tex., who arrives in the city today on a visit to the Misses Phelan.

Miss Edrington is both pretty and charming, and will be one of the most admired visitors to Atlanta this winter. She will have a number of entertainments given in her honor, and her visit is being anticipated with pleasure.

Graduating Exercises.

INVITATIONS have been issued to the commencement exercises of the Tabernacle Infirmary and Training School for Nurses this evening at the Baptist tabernacle.

The exercises will begin at 8 o'clock with an address from Dr. Hubert Royster, of Raleigh, N. C., who will be introduced by Dr. Broughton.

This notice will serve a good purpose if it reminds some one of a pleasant duty. You have been intending for a long time, possibly, to get your wife a new sewing machine. There is nothing in this world that she would appreciate more than a modern light running Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

This sewing machine is without doubt the best—and for this reason it is the favorite in the home. Being the lightest running sewing machine extant, it is highly recommended by physicians.

If you will call at the office, 71 Whitehall street, it will be a pleasure to show you the different styles and to take your order for delivery Christmas eve.

THEATERS.

The Grand.

Jeanne Towler in the Pinero play, "Iris," will be seen at the Grand Thursday matinee and night.

It is no doubt well remembered by theatergoers that "Iris" was brought out in this country in New York last season, where it quickly became one of the most talked about and generally discussed plays that have been seen in the United States for many, many years. It is what may be termed a so-called problem play; something after the style of "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith," or "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," but in the opinion of those who have seen it it is a drama far excelling either of these in dramatic interest. As a writer of plays Mr. Pinero seems to be the peer of any other playwright who writes the English language. The indications are that Miss Towler will be greeted by unusually large audiences.

Paul Gilmore comes again to the Grand on Friday and Saturday in his success of last season, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," in which he then appeared to such great advantage in this city. New elaborate stage settings, electrical effects, paraphernalia, so necessary for the production of this comedy success, have been secured by Manager Jules Murry for this, Mr. Gilmore's last tour in this play, the story of which is founded on actual occurrences said to have been met with by Isaac Henderson, the author, in London. It is a bundle of bright lines, animated situations and has rightly been termed "a comedy of temperament." Mr. Gilmore has won his greatest stage success in "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," and the coming presentation will therefore undoubtedly arouse more than ordinary interest among local theatergoers.

The Bijou.

One of the cleanest, most interesting and decidedly original melodramatic successes of the season is "Child Slaves of New York," the bill that is on at the Bijou this week.

Three capacity-testing gatherings of theatergoers have witnessed the production, and there is every indication that the schedule of performances during the rest of the engagement, which ends Saturday night, will cause the exhibition of the "standing room only" card.

There was probably a time when the announcement of melodrama enlisted the thought of cheapness in cast and production, with some plot founded on a story taken from the covers of a cheap and trashy novel, but the people who have become acquainted with the modern melodrama know that the players are of the first class, that the productions are of elaborate fineness, and that the story is one of real interest, and from the pen of artists in the great family of playwrights. And in "Child Slaves of New York" all of these qualifications are given life.

The story deals with much of the east side life in New York. It tells of the incidents in the life of a young miner who went to the gold fields of Alaska, and soon staked a "claim" that was a fortune. His partner developed into a villian, and sought the ruin of the young prospector. The scene changes to New York, and the suffering brought to the wife and daughter of the miner. Then is introduced a "Sherlock Holmes" sort of detective who does all manner of wonderful things, and all ends in happiness.

One of the most thrilling scenes is the rescue of a baby from a burning building. A tug boat, armed with a rapid firing gun, comes down on the den and destroys it, and puts the villians to flight.

There is a capable company in the cast and the production and the effects are good. The attraction will be one of the hits of the season.

The Daylight Corner

Hear a great deal about Suits and Overcoats these days—it's an important question with most men and uppermost with us always.

But after all has been said and done—after the advertising, the selecting, the fitting and adjusting and the sale made—then comes the crucial test when every suit or overcoat must stand on its own merits!

That's why we demand hand tailoring at every point where it can possibly be an advantage in shaping and holding shape.

That's why we insist upon all wool—and the best of it.

That's why every suit that goes out from this store adds to the Eiseman & Weil reputation for good clothing.

NOT SATISFIED WITH SOLUTION

Ministers of Augusta May Yet Precipitate Liquor Fight.

Augusta, Ga., November 15.—(Special.) The ministerial alliance is not satisfied with the action of the city council in regard to the solution of the liquor matter, as published in The Constitution yesterday.

At a meeting today the alliance, by a unanimous vote, expressed itself as dissatisfied with the action of the council and announced that it will contend further for the following reforms:

"Five hundred dollar license, cash payment for same in advance, for a guarantee bond from grocery stores, no transfer of license, exclusion of minors and women from bars."

It is intimated by those close to members of the alliance that unless these reforms are granted a prohibition fight, with Broughton, Jones and Stewart as the star performers, will be precipitated at an early date.

KING'S HORSE FAILED TO WIN

English Steeds Fared Badly at the Gotham Show.

Queen Frederica Bred by King Edward Received Third Prize. Many Children Were Present To See the Horses.

New York, November 15.—The second day of the horse show brought greater crowds to Madison Square garden than attended yesterday. This was particularly true of the afternoon, when the promenade was thronged and all of the boxes were filled. A noticeable feature of the attendance in the afternoon was the large number of children, who were especially in evidence when the polo ponies were judged.

To the disappointment of the Englishmen, who attended in a body, the English horses fared badly, and Queen Frederica, bred by King Edward, received only a third prize. The English exhibitors won their first blue ribbon in the class of hackney's when Robert Whitworth of Halifax, England, took first prize.

Mrs. J. D. Grosvenor's horse, Rosebury, was given the blue ribbon over Alfred G. Vanderbilt's horse, High Tide, in the class for horses, carriages and appointments. Yesterday Roseberry was beaten by High Tide in the class for carriage horses alone, but today the addition of an excellent equipment and perfect appointments won the honors for Mrs. Grosvenor.

One of the notable features of this year's horse show is the attempt of the young society leaders to inaugurate a reign of greater simplicity in costumes. Where others have made up on jewelry and brilliantly finished creations of the dressmakers art, these leaders are wearing somber satins and velvets, set off with feathers. Those who are using jewels have brought pearls into greater prominence and the contrast between the brilliant costumes and flashing gems on the one hand and the severely plain corsages with feathers falling across the shoulders on the other is very marked.

MAY PROTECT HERD OF DEER

Sale Now in Progress at Famous Belle Mead Farm.

Nashville, Tenn., November 15.—At 1 o'clock this morning the sale of the Jersey herd, dairy utensils farm implements, mules and the remainder of thoroughbred stocks, including Luke Blackburn, began at the famous Belle Mead stock farm near this city.

There are several hundred deer and elk on the place, and if sufficient protection from the hunters can be had, they may be purchased and turned loose in this state.

It is reported here that E. E. Smathers, the thoroughbred fancier, is dickering for the Belle Mead establishment, with a view of establishing a permanent home for McChesney.

Interest in the sale today centered around the disposal of Luke Blackburn, the one-time brilliant race horse and noted sire.

But one bid, $20, was made, and W. H. Allison, of Bellevue, Tenn., became the old stallion's new owner. Nellie Van, 21 years old, the dam of Advance Guard, and now with foal to The Commonet, was sold to W. O. Parmer, Nashville, Tenn., for $100.

Horace Ingersoll, New York.

New York, November 15.—Horace Ingersoll, for more than half a century a member of the New York produce exchance, is dead from paralysis. He was 75 years old.

TECHS EXPECT RECORD SCORE

Gold and White Going After Tennessee This Afternoon.

The Georgia Techs are going out after a record score this afternoon, when the eleven meets the Tennessee Meds in a game at Piedmont park, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

This will be the last game played by the Tech team this season until Thanksgiving day, when the eleven meets the Cumberland men at Piedmont park.

The Meds have been beaten so often of late that the question asked in the game is not who will win, but what will be the score. Tech hopes to make a bigger score than any other eleven in the south has been able to pile up this season.

The Meds are, however, in fine shape and are determined to keep down the score, and, if possible, score a few for themselves. The game begins early and should end sooner than the games played so far this season, though the halves will probably be a little longer.

INSURE WITH THE COMPANY THAT PAYS ITS CLAIMS.

WINSTON, GA., November 9, 1904.

Mark J. McCord, Manager,
National Life Insurance Co., of the U. S. of A.,
Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir: Your kind favor of the 8th, inclosing check for $979.22, in full payment of policy No. 52476, which my late husband, J. J. Aderhold, held in your good company, has been received.

This money is a great blessing to me and my family, and demonstrates, in a practical way, that every man who has a family should carry life insurance.

My husband took out this policy in your company in June, 1903, at which time he was in splendid health, and there was nothing to even suggest that in one year and three months from the time he took out the policy the Grim Reaper would call at our door and carry away the bread winner of the family. His death left me with NINE CHILDREN, one of them being only three months old.

In behalf of your splendid company, for its promptness, justice and fairness in paying this claim, I cannot say too much, as it is entitled to the trust and confidence of every one whom it has business dealings. I hope that for many, many years to come it will still be protecting the widows and orphans.

Again thanking you, I am Very sincerely,

(Signed) NANCEY E. ADERHOLD,
Widow and Beneficiary of J. J. Aderhold, deceased.

COTTON CLOSED LOWEST OF DAY

Market Narrow, Comparatively Small Orders Influencing Prices.

Fluctuations Reflected No Alteration in the General Attitude of the Market—New York Was Cut Off From Southern Business.

New York, November 15.—The cotton market was a little more active than yesterday. The wire service was working sufficiently well to permit of the receipt of nearly all the usual southern news, but private wire houses were without the means of communication and New York was cut off from southern business. The market opened steady at an advance of 1@3 points in response to rather better cables than expected and reports of cold weather in the belt. Local operators seemed to be trading a little more freely than on the previous day, Liverpool sent a few buying orders and some of the spot houses were buying. Following the call the list worked up to a net advance of about 5@8 points with December leading, while January rule relatively easy. Wall street shorts appeared to be selling January to prevent an advance while buying in December contracts. Later business became less active and during the balance of the session the general tendency was downward. A local spot house was quite a liberal seller in the afternoon trading and the market was finally barely steady at a decline of 7 points, the lowest level of the day. Sales were reported of 50,000 bales. The market being so narrow it took but comparatively small orders to swing prices and the fluctuations reflected no alteration in the general attitude to the market.

New Orleans Market.

New York, November 15.—Spot cotton in good demand at full prices, most of the purchases being made for account of foreign and domestic spinners. Sales 7,400 bales, including 1,700 to arrive and 100 f. o. b. Quotations 1-16c higher.

Future market was dull owing to continued defective wire service. At the opening prices were unchanged to 1 point hhigher than yesterday's closing. For a time after the opening it looked as if a stiff advance might be made, but free offerings by big bull interests and weak longs checked the advancing tendency. In the trading the active months first advanced 4 to 6 points, but soon lost the improvement. December opened 1 point up at 9.78, sold up to 9.81 and finally declined to 9.75. March opened at 10.02, sold up to 10.07 and declined to 10.01. The market closed quiet with net losses of 1 to 3 points.

Dry Goods Market.

New York, November 15.—The dry goods market conditions have undergone little change, but there is increased confidence in the minds of sellers who are not willing to submit to any arguments of buyers to establish a lower price level. Comparatively few additional operatives have gone in at Fall River, and the situation is increasing in favor of the seller. The carpet auction continues favorable with the offerings well sold at fair prices.

THE LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool, November 15.—12:15 p. m.—

Cothran & Co.

Cotton—Gibert & Clay, New Orleans, in their circular letter today, say: Nothing beyond quotations was received from Liverpool this morning. These evidenced a steady market devoid of anything approaching sensationalism. The improvement for the day was 4 points on both options and sales on spots. Later cables ascribed the buying to spinners. The opening here was steady, and at practically unchanged levels. A tendency to moderately higher prices was checked by the selling of near months on the improvement. The range of fluctuations continued narrow, but a good undertone was imparted by an excellent spot business. Until the advent of some new feature of moment the tendency of the market will be the maintenance of present values with slight variations. The bear element recently conspicuous have adopted a conservative policy, and are not apparently increasing their short interest, at the same time are manifesting no uneasiness by efforts to cover. The contest is between the holders of cotton and the consumers, and speculators largely comprise the audience with some indications of willingness to assist the side manifesting the most strength.

WHEAT—There was selling from the start on easier cables, fine weather, and reports of a larger movement in the northwest, considerable long wheat coming out that was bought late last week, while a bearish feeling developed due to liquidation that appeared in December with that month going to a discount under May with selling by the northwest, possibly some of it in the way of hedging. There was good commission house buying around $1.12 and under for May, but the market was full of stop orders with local holders letting go and the bear element helping the decline along. The news has suddenly turned from very bullish to a very bearish character, but sharp declines have been witnessed. We look for offerings to be well absorbed and think there has been break enough to warrant purchases for a good sized upturn that will develop with the advent of bullish news.

CORN—There was fairly good buying of May, but the decline in wheat started scalpers to selling, the fair weather, also, being an incentive. Offerings of December were more free for country account, but with wire communication restored to the east we look for a better cash demand, and would favor purchases of May on recessions.

OATS—Receipts were light. There was fairly good buying of May and prices held up well, considering the weakness elsewhere.

PROVISIONS—Shipments of lard were under last year, with the receipts in excess, but hogs were in large supply and lower, which started selling of January product by commission houses and packers. On the declines, packers bought, but the trade as a general thing was very light. We believe that declines can extend but little farther, and would favor purchases on soft spots.

Miller & Co.

COTTON—H. & B. Beer, in their circular letter totday, say: The storm in New England has about spent its force and is gradually disappearing, and as little or no damage was done along the south Atlantic coast, all apprehension as to cotton crop having been injured has been removed. Foreign advices were more favorable than generaly expected. Liverpool spots and futures closing at an advance of 4 points; sales 7,000. Private cables stated that the firmness of the market was due to spinners calling cotton and Manchester reported yarns as very firm; cloths quieter. American markets were favorably influenced by developments abroad, New Orleans opening about unchanged from last night's close; January at 9.87, afterward selling at 9.90. Private wire advices from all districts told of there being a much better demand for actual cotton at 1-16 to 1-8c advance, that offerings were light and that arrivals were falling off. There was more activity in the local spot market with the prices 1-16c higher; sales 4,700 bales; to arrive 1,700, the market closing firm. Every effort was made to create some activity in futures. News of there being a good demand in local market at 1-16 to 1-8c advance was spread far and near, but without encouraging any buying orders of importance. In absence of outside support, local traders gave up the task and unloaded as best they could, January falling back to 9.83. Probably the movement is a little too heavy to invite public buying of cotton. There is some disappointment in receipts failing to fall off sufficiently for the month of November, compared with last year, and it is doubtful if there will be any shortage in receipts in the current month, when general figures are compared with those of a year ago. Those inclined to follow the long side of the market, however, are bullish on prospective consumption of the world rather than on a moderate crop of 11,000,000 or less. A severe winter seems to be in store for us this season, and as the more seasonable weather will be productive of a better cotton goods demand, they are looking for a continual rise in manufactured goods, which they expect to see reflected in an advance of the raw material, there being so little surplus of cotton goods of every description on hand.

WHEAT—Market 1 7-8 to 2 5-8c lower. The news ticker quotes a private cable as saying that Russian shipments for the week are 8,730,000, against 6,392,000 last week; but this was not confirmed. Owing to wire trouble, the trade was without its customary statistics. Minneapolis stocks show an increase of 525,000 for half the week. After a firm opening the market seemed to sag under general commission house selling. There was some increase in the volume of business, the market at times being fairly active. The cash situation and flour demand continue slow, and aside from this there is nothing new. (Trade is mostly local, with the public looking on.) We continue to feel the interests responsible for last week's advance have no serious object in view, other than to run in a short interest existing and a desire to scalp the market. Considering the statistical position of wheat, it will take something alarming in the shape of Argentine damage or war news to create a bull market at this time. It is still a scalping market, and this is the third day of the reaction. The action of the market at the close today was distinctly weak and sick enough to warrant the trade looking for somewhat lower prices tomorrow.

CORN—Market closed 1-2 to 5-8c lower Considering the sever decline in wheat, this market held remarkably well. There was some buying by a prominent cash and elevator concern, but in a moderate way only. Stock of contract corn in Chicago 241,000. The speculative position has not changed a particle, and considering the weak market today would not be surprised if the short interest increased its line somewhat. Receipts of corn are liberal, and quite a fair percentage is grading No. 4. We still feel the long side is the safer, but the market is slow and of a scalping nature, and we advise taking profits when in sight.

PROVISIONS—Market 2 1-2 to 10c lower. The larger receipts in the yards today are largely responsible for the lower range of quotations. The packer is still against the hog market. Prices today were 5 to 10c lower. The speculative situation is flat. Very little, if any, outside business. This, with the packers' attitude, is a very narrow market.

Record Breaking Shipments of Wheat from Russia Main Cause.

Increased Movement in United States Assisted—December Wheat Closed 2 5-8c. Lower, While May Left Off 1 7-8c. Down Corn 3-4 to 7-8c. Lower.

Chicago, November 15.—Record breaking shipments from Russia and prospects of an increased movement in the United States were factors in causing a decidedly weak wheat market here today. At the close the December option was off 2 5-8c. May was down 1 7-8c. Corn shows a loss of 3-4@7-8c. Oats are down 1 1-8@1 1-4c and provisions 2 1-2@12 1-2c.

Beginning with an easier tone at the start the wheat market gradually developed into an extremely weak affair. Easier cables and weather suitable for the movement of the crop caused considerable liquidation at the opening. Initial quotations on December were unchanged to 1-8c lower at $1.13 1-2@1.13 5-8. May was off 1-8 to 1-4c at $1.13 1-8 to $1.13 1-4. Wire to the east were still working badly, so that the ordinary market information came slowly. The world's shipments and visible supply statement that should have been received Monday was still delayed, but early in the day information was received from a private source that Russian shipments last week were of enormous proportions, the largest weekly shipments from any one country. Although not coming from an official quarter, the information apparently had considerable effect and materially augmented the selling pressure. Prospects of a big increase in the visible supply also counted against the longs. A decrease of a half a million in primary receipts was apparently altogether ignored. Neither was any attention given to seemingly bullish gossip from the southwest tending to depress prices. There was weakness of the northwestern markets, due to expectation of a more liberal movement of wheat from the farms. As prices fell numerous stop loss orders were uncovered, forcing prices still further dwonward. The principal selling was in the December delivery. That option showed the greatest loss, the lowest point reached—$1.11—being 2 5-8c below the highest point of the day. May sold off to $1.11 3-8, a drop of 1 7-8@2c. The market closed almost at the lowest point, final quotations on December being at $1.11. May closed at $1.11 1-2. Clearings wheat and flour were equal to 4,200 bushels. Primary receipts were 903,500 bushels compared with 1,400,200 a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 752 cars, against 990 a year ago.

The break in wheat and a liberal increase in the movement of the wheat crop caused weakness in the corn market. Lower prices for cash corn also tended to depress speculative values. The selling was mainly of the December option. The market closed practically at the lowest point. December opened unchanged to ¼c lower at 50⅝@50¾c, sold off to 50c and closed at 50@50¼c. Local receipts 405 cars, 7 contract grade.

In sympathy with weakness of other grains the oats market was a trifle easier, although prices moved in a narrower range. Trading was exceedingly quiet, the pressure of enormous stocks at this point apparently reducing business to a minimum. December opened a shade lower at 28⅞c, sold between 28¾c and 28⅞@29c and closed at 28¾c. Local receipts 169 cars.

Heavy receipts of hogs at the yards and a curtilment in shipments of products to the east caused weakness in provisions. Small packers were the principal sellers. At the close January pork was off 10@12c at $12.55@12.57½. Lard and ribs were each down 2½@5c at $7.02½@7.05 and $6.50 respectively.

Estimated receipts tomorrow: Wheat 57 cars; corn 173 cars; oats 56 cars; hogs 38,000 head.

COTTON—The market for cotton futures in the local market today opened quiet and steady with first prices unchanged to 1 point advance. This was a result of the firm cables from the English market. There was an upward turn just after the opening, which resulted in an advance of some 3 or 4 points, but these prices could not hold in view of the promise of heavy receipts for the day, and the continued favorable weather in the south for marketing the crop. The absence of wire facilities with the south was another factor in the decline, as the best support to the market recently has been from this source. However, throughout the day there was a strong undertone to the market, and, though dull, there was a tendency in all quarters to view the outlook favorably. There is thought to be a good short interest in the market and a little spurt to run the shorts out would not be a very great surprise to the insiders. The reports from the spot centers showed a fairly good tone, and spinners were reported to be taking on a fair line. The Liverpool market showed a good spot market there with spot sales of 8,000. Estimates for tomorrow at Houston and the larger ports give promise of liberal receipts.

WHEAT—There was continued activity in the wheat market today with prices tending lower, the December option losing 2 1-2c at the close and May nearly 2c. This was due to short selling by the professionals. Liverpool opening wheat was 1-2d lower and prices eased ffo. Later support was withdraw

W. J. TIMMS, JEWELER
Sells Watches That Time Exceedingly Close.

Items of Interest to Those Who Appreciate Accurate Time—A Few Records Made By Watches Sold by Mr. Timms.

In this fast 20th century day it has become a necessity for every business man as well as those connected in all mechanical lines to have accurate time and besides what pleasure it is to a man to look at his watch and know that he is right.

The following records were made by watches recently purchased from Mr. Timms:

Mr. J. W. Paterson bought a 21-jewel Hamilton watch and after three months and fifteen days' comparison found it to be ten seconds out.

Mr. E. D. Dodson bought a 17-jewel Hamilton and after carrying it 16 weeks comparison found it to be one minute and ten seconds out.

Mr. E. R. Wilkerson bought a Hamilton watch and six weeks' wear found it to be 8 seconds out.

Mr. E. B. Rosser bought a Hamilton, five weeks' wear found it to be 18 seconds out.

Mr. J. O. Kimberly bought a Hamilton and three months' wear found it to be 8 seconds out.

The above records were all made by Hamilton watches, the world's best timekeepers.

Mr. Timms carries a complete line of all modern American watches. He has all sizes cased in solid gold, 20 and 25-year filled cases at lowest cash prices.

As to watch repairing Mr. Timms has three first-class workmen with every facility for doing high grade repairing.

To the young man who anticipates buying his sweetheart a Christmas present it will pay him to see Mr. Timms' line of gold lockets, neck chains, etc., 4 West Alabama street, Atlanta, Ga.

NEW OFFICERS ARE SELECTED

Chamber of Commerce Nominating Committee Completes Its Work.

Nominations have been made for the offices that are to be filled on Tuesday, November 29, by the members of the Atlanta chamber of commerce. The committee was appointed during the last session of the board of directors of the chamber, and has delayed in making public the nominations for the reason that several of the gentlemen who were selected were loath to fill the offices assigned to them.

Two Year Nominations.

Following are the nominations made for terms of two years from December 1, with the exception of Mr. Anderson, who is nominated for an unexpired term of one year:

Second vice president, J. Willis Pope, general manager Enterprise Lumber Company; third vice president, David Woodward, president Woodward Lumber Company.

Directors—Asa G. Candler, president Coca-Cola Company; F. J. Paxon, secretary and treasurer Davison-Paxon-Stokes Company; William H. Kiser, treasurer M. C. Kiser Company.

Director for the unexpired term of David Woodward—Harvey L. Anderson, president Anderson Hardware Company.

The nomination committee followed the precedent set a year ago for bringing in new blood into the directory. All officers and directors whose term expired were allowed to retire.

The committee, in selecting vice presidents, promoted two of the most active and influential directors.

The promotion of one of these directors leaves an unexpired term of one year, and the nomination to fill that office is so designated. The other officers and directors nominated were for full two year terms.

The annual election will be by ballot, and occurs in the rooms of the chamber of commerce on Tuesday, November 29, between the hours of noon and 5 p. m. Every member, not in arrears for dues, is entitled to a vote.

RAILWAY NOTES.

The regular bi-monthly joint meeting of the Southeastern Freight Association and the Mississippi Valley Association met at the Piedmont yesterday. The session was a short one, and only routine matters took up the attention of the members. St. Augustine, Fla., was selected as the next meeting place.

A number of subcommittees were appointed to take up certain matters and report at the joint session which will be held this morning at 10 o'clock. The members of these subcommittees stated that there was nothing of public or general interest in the matters assigned to them for consideration. All of these subcommittees met in different rooms in the hotel yesterday in executive session.

Some thirty-six transportation lines are represented in the two associations, and the joint conventions are held for the purpose of adjusting rates and other matters bearing on the best interests of the two territories which are adjoining.

Among the prominent railroad men present yesterday were L. Sevier, general freight agent Alabama Great Southern; Henry Povelite, assistant general freight agent Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific; D. M. Goodwin, general freight agent, and C. D. Boyd, assistant general freight agent, Louisville and Nashville; R. A. Brand and James Menzies, general freight agents Atlantic Coast Line; L. Green, general freight agent; W. H. Paxton, assistant general freight agent, and F. H. Bohring, chief clerk, Southern; D. W. Longstreet, general freight agent, and E. K. Bryan, assistant general freight agent, Illinois Central and Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroads; H. F. Smith, traffic manager; E. T. Eckles, assistant general freight agent, and J. N. Steadwell, chief clerk, Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and Western and Atlantic railroads; C. R. Capps, general freight agent, and Morris Hudgins, chief clerk, Seaboard Air Line; W. L. Woodrow, general freight agent Old Dominion steamship line; W. E. Estes, general freight agent, and P. L. Graham, assistant general freight agent, Central of Georgia; A. G. Jackson, general freight agent Georgia railroad; F. W. Armstrong, general freight agent Georgia, Florida and Alabama; A. R. Smith, general freight agent Atlanta and West Point and Western Railway of Alabama; J. H. McWilliams, general freight agent Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern; E. Williams, general freight agent Charleston and Western Carolina; C. R. Saunders, chief clerk Norfolk and Western, and others.

There was a meeting of the Memphis cotton committee at the Piedmont hotel yesterday afternoon. The session was executive, and one of the members stated that another meeting would be held today. The subject under consideration is the matter of rates, which are always a part of the routine duties of the committee at this time of the year.

C. C. Johnston, southeastern agent of the Atlanta and West Point route, with headquarters in Waco, Texas, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Johnston is an old Atlanta man, and was kept busy yesterday shaking hands with his old friends. Except for the fact that the soil and climate have thinned the covering of Mr. Johnston's head, he is the same popular passenger man that won for himself so many friends during his long stay in Atlanta. Mr. Johnston is accompanied by his wife during his present trip, and will return to Texas and his southwestern duties tonight.

J. C. Beam, Jr., who has been confined to his home at the Majestic for a week with the grip, is again at his office attending to his duties as district passenger agent of the Southern.

J. P. Billups, general passenger agent of the West Point, returned from a trip to his home in Columbus, Miss., yesterday.

Another railroad committee reporting only routine business during executive session at the Piedmont yesterday, was the iron committee. Rates on pig iron was the matter under consideration.

The Transportation Club is being filled these days with visiting railroad men, to whom have been extended the courtesies of the club. Each day finds the long list of prominent Atlanta visitors growing on the club register, and many of the questions which are being officially considered in the conference are informally discussed at the rooms of this popular organization of the cinder colony.

Among the prominent railroad men visiting Atlanta is W. M. Legg, general manager of the Georgia, Florida and Alabama, with headquarters at Bainbridge. With Mr. Legg is his wife. They expect to leave for St. Louis this afternoon.

PROFIT TAKING MUCH IN EVIDENCE

Reactionary and Irregular Movement of Prices Still Holds On.

Money Market Was Called Harder. Strength Developed In a Number of Stocks, but Realizing Persisted to the Last—Closed Irregular.

New York, November 15.—The reactionary and irregular movement of prices was not gone from the market today and selling pressure to take profits was much in evidence in the majority of the usually active stocks, especially during the morning. At the same time the sensational advances in an inferior grade of industrials and railroad stocks of doubtful value kept the character of the speculation under suspicion. In the latter part of the day there was a considerable reversion of interest to the standard railroad list. The issues dealt in continued to show great variety, and many stocks made their reappearance on the tape after a long interval. Rather more consideration was given today also to the money outlook, although there was small change in interest rates. The tone of the money market, however, was called harder. The strength developed in a number of stocks was most explainable from special causes. Very specific rumors of an early impending decision in the Northern Securities case were responsible for strength of the Harriman group. Rcok Island was helped by its bond sales. The rise in the soft coalers was due to assertions that their dividend rate would be raised shortly. Amalgamated Copper enjoyed the benefit of a further rise in the price of copper. The early heaviness of the steel group and their late recovery were connected with the meeting of the stel billt pool. The rise in the Louisville and Nashville group was explained by the cutting of the Atlantic Coast Line ""Melon." The desire to realize persisted to the last and the market closed irregular.

THE BYRNE SYSTEMS LEAD ALL OTHERS

No Fault Found Even by Competitors. The Systems Are Praised and Recommended.

Any one who has studied or employed a graduate of the Byrne Bookkeeping or Shorthand will tell you to study no other. Those who have investigated the merits of the system say the results are simply marvelous. The competitors of the Bayne shorthand have never been able to discover a single fault in it. In fact, the author offers $500.00 to anyone who will point out a single fault not found in any or all of the leading systems. It is the stenographic marvel of the age. It is learned in half the time of the other systems, with 50 per cent greater speed, and read far easier, and is remembered much longer.

For further information write or call on the Atlanta Commercial College, 14 1-2 Broad St., Atlanta, Ga., which has the sole right to teach these systems in the Southeast.
